FOREWORD

For a number of years the writer has been gathering material for a brief history of this community. We shall try and be as brief as possible, knowing that the present generation wants everything in a nutshell. When the Republican National Convention met in Kansas City a few years ago, one of the speakers said, "We cannot write the platform short enough so that the average man will take time to read it." The preacher says there is a time for every purpose and we are convinced this is the proper time for writing a short history of the developments of this community. At the time we commenced to gather material for this history, we still had quite a number of pioneers with us who could tell us how conditions here developed. They spoke what they knew and bore witness of what they had seen. The material for this book is based largely on hearsay matter gathered from these pioneers who have contributed so much to the upbuilding of this community. They were the source of information and nobody will doubt their dependability. The names of some of these pioneers who gave us information are Fred Haar, John Gross, John Schamber, George Schamber, Wm. Dewald, M. Wollmann, John Dubs, Andrew Mettler, Christ Auch, George Aman, Peter H. Unruh, C. P. Dickman, Henry Dewald, Fred Huber, M. R. Huber, Jacob J. Waltner and others.

This book is dedicated to the pioneers of Freeman and vicinity who had visions of the future and planned accordingly. The only one of the above named persons living today is Hon. John Gross who observed his 97th birthday June 1st, 1957.

HISTORY OF FREEMAN AND COMMUNITY NEAR FREEMAN

C. BUECHLER
FATHER OF FREEMAN

Mr. Buechler had the first store in Freeman
Died in 1904, age 61 years

JOHN GROSS
HIS RIGHT HAND

Buechler's right hand is still living, age 97
Oldest man now living in Freeman

This settlement was five years old when Freeman started. In the summer of 1879 the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company extended their line from Marion to Freeman and Menno with the objective point in view to build down to Runningwater. Late in fall when train service started, the company decided on a station here. When a town is located the railroad company looks for a name. Conditions often suggest the name; like Sioux Falls, Dell Rapids, Whitewater was named after trees along a creek. But some towns were also named after some prominent man. The land owner here was Fred Waldner and when the Milwaukee Road decided to open a station here and the land owner was Fred Waldner, instead of calling it Fredman they changed the letter "d" to "e" and called it Freeman. When they came to Menno they found Fred Heiser owning land near the present town of Menno. The Wolf Creek Colony settled at Silver Lake in 1874 where they owned 29 quarters, but a mill driven by water power was on their mind and they bought the present Wolf Creek Colony place for $750.00 and moved down in 1875 and built a flour mill and this Fred Heiser was their miller for years, but his home was at the present Menno. In those days the Colony was always known by the name of Mennonite Colony and Heiser being their miller and also a prominent man at the present Menno, in the fall of 1879 when the railroad was built, they called the town Menno and omitted the four last letters, "nite". All this is not on record but the writer spent the first 26 years of his life at Menno and this is hearsay information.

Fred Waldner filed on this land in 1878 on which the town was located in 1879. The Waldner homestead shack was located half a block south of the present City Park. Waldner sold 150 acres to John Laural of Mitchell on November 18, 1879 for $700.00 and Mr. Laural platted the original townsite of Freeman and sold the land for $1500.00.

Mr. Waldner kept 10 acres and his sod house and devoted his time making combs for horses and a little later sold the 10 acres and joined the Bon Homme Colony. Mr. Waldner was the father of the mother of Mrs. Druggist John K. Hofer.

The southern part of Freeman located on the southwest quarter of the section, was homesteaded by Mike Tschetter. His homestead shack was near the Bethany Church. They sold out and joined the Bon Homme Colony.

That part of Freeman west of the section line on the northeast quarter of that section was the homestead of David Kleinsasser. His sod house was located a little north of the Math J. Kleinsasser home. David Kleinsasser died in 1879 and Mrs. Kleinsasser (the late Mrs. John L. Wipf) filed on the 160 acres.

Until the fall of 1879, all you could see on the present site of Freeman were three sod houses belonging to Fred Waldner, Mike Tschetter and David Kleinsasser.

C. Buechler was called "The Father of Freeman," because he opened the first business establishment here in Freeman. He conducted a store in Yankton till late in the fall of 1879, when he decided to leave Yankton and come to Freeman.

He moved his 1½ story 20x50 structure to Freeman. This was the first store in Freeman and the Buechlers were the first people, outside of railroad employees, to locate here in Freeman. The present Schamber corner was the place Mr. Buechler conducted a general merchandise business in that building until 1881 when he sold out to John Dubs and John Schamber. This first building which was moved out from Yankton was cut into several pieces and moved on hayracks.

On January 1, 1882 John Schamber and George Schamber formed a partnership under this firm name and the business is now operated by Irvin, Richard, Johanna and Wilhelmina, sons and daughters of the original George Schamber. In 1900 when Schambers erected the present modern brick store building, the old Buechler building that was moved out from Yankton on hayracks, was moved and is now the Laber Meat Market. Mr. Buechler was born in Russia in 1843, prepared for the teaching profession in Odessa, was moved to Barbau Zumbaunn in 1866 and came to America in 1873. Buechler's right hand in his business undertakings was John Gross, who came over from Russia at the age of 14, with his two brothers Philip and Henry. Philip died in North Dakota and Henry disappeared.

The first year the 14 year old John Gross worked on the farm for board. The second year he worked for Buechler in the store for $75 a year. He kept on working for Buechler till 1882 and was Buechler's right hand in all his undertakings. This John Gross observed his 97th birthday June 1, 1957. Always remember, old age indicates a virtuous life. Mr. Gross observed developments from the founding of the town to the present day. If there has ever lived a self made man, he is the man. His parents died when he was still young and that resulted in neglecting the school but common sense applied made him a successful man.

THE FOLLOWING MEN WERE OUR BUSINESSMEN IN THE EARLY 80's

All were strong church and school men and shaped conditions in the early days in Freeman

CHRIST GUENTHER

Died Dec. 1923, age 67 years

HENRY PFEIFFER
Died Sept. 10, 1925, age 70 years

HENRY DEWALD

Henry Dewald, who died in 1911, age 56 years, was one of our first business men in Freeman. He and Mr. Christoph Guenther had built the first hardware store here. The Wipf Bros. own the place now. Mr. Dewald however preferred farming and had gone back on his farm shortly after.

FRIEDRICH HAAR

Died 1946, age 89 years

The above men played an important role in the development of our little city the first few years. They were all born in Russia and came to America in the 70's. Only one of them is living today and that is Hon. John Gross. All were active in this community just about all their life time. They were very active in school and church work and for anything that was for the upbuilding of a nice clean town.

It is never realized what it means for a new town to have leaders that are interested in church and school work. How fortunate if the new generation grows up under the influence of honest leaders. They also took great interest in public questions and all of us know how badly we need good influence in the political field and how important it is to use the influence in the right direction. These men contributed more than their share to make Freeman one of the best and cleanest towns in the state. A well informed man who travels this state from one end to the other many times was telling us in the Courier office that Freeman is the strongest church town in South Dakota. We thanked him for the compliment. We were well acquainted with these ten men and make these statements from the bottom of our heart.

The first few years many deals were made in Freeman. Buechler sold his store to John Schamber and John Dubs. In 1881 Buechler moved out on the P. P. Kleinsasser farm. A little later Dubs sold out to John and George Schamber. After staying for a little while on the P. P. Kleinsasser place Buechler moved back to Freeman and built a house on the present First National Bank corner which was moved west and is the present

FIRST BUILDING IN FREEMAN on present Schamber corner which is today the Labor Meat Market.

The first building moved out here from Yankton in 1879 was replaced by the above brick building in 1900.

John Wagner home. The present First National Bank building was erected in 1907.

In 1883 C. Buechler and John Gross erected the corner building on the present Dr. E. J. Hofer corner building lot for a hotel. In 1881 Philip Gross opened a saloon in a building near the present municipal saloon. A daughter was born to Mrs. Philip Gross which was the first child born in Freeman. She died in North Dakota not long ago. John Feiok opened a harness shop on the present K&K Store location. Henry Dewald and C. Guenthner opened a hardware store on the Wipf Bros. corner and later this became the Guenthner & Haar store. The first owners were C. Guenthner, Fred Haar, Henry Dewald and Gottlob Schmidtgal.

In 1901 they sold out to Wipf Bros. Haar went into the implement business and Guenthner into the drug store business a little later. Joseph Bohrer opened a saloon in 1883. In 1884 Henry Kieth and Henry Nuss started a lumber yard but later sold out to St. Croix Lumber Co. In 1882 the St. Paul Lutheran church was organized and Rev. Melcher served. A building was erected in 1886 and the present church building was built in 1899.

In 1881 there was not one residence in town. Buechlers lived above the store. In 1881 a public school was started in a little building on the present park grounds and Rev. John L. Wipf was the teacher at $15.00 a month. The next school building was the present J. C. Neufeld house, erected in the 80's and for a time served as City Hall.

In 1885 C. Buechler opened a bank in the present Laber Meat Market.

Up till 1885 Freeman was without a drug store. People in those days had great faith in home remedies and coming down in the point our modern doctors tell us faith plays a big role in a cure. But be that as it may, a drug store was opened in Freeman in 1885 on the present Undertaker Walter lot, by Farley. A little later Farley sold out to Groves and Groves sold out to John Gross in 1889 and Gross sold out to Dayton. When Dr. A. A. Wipf graduated from Rush Medical College in Chicago in 1895 he and his cousin J. W. Wipf embarked in the drug store business till after 1904 when they sold out to C. Guenthner & Son, later to J. J. Pullman. In 1912 the drug store was sold to John K. Hofer and is still here, but in another building. The other drug stores were Herman Janke, Otto Temple. D. A. Corkill bought from Temple in 1928, sold to Emil Hirsch in 1930, bought back in 1933 and has been here ever since.

THE POST OFFICE

To become a postmaster in the early days it was not necessary to take civil service examination and have your qualifications weighed. There was a little more than nothing to do in a country post office. A farmer came to town once a week and here at Freeman the Dakota Freie Presse was about the only paper received and that only by some. But for the last 40 years it's considered a big plum. When Wm. Dewald was postmaster in the 90's the salary amounted to $1 a day. In those days they had to meet the train—that meant two trips a day for Dewald to the depot with a mail sack on the back, and a little mail in the corner of the sack. Today they are sweating in the post office to handle the mail. The first postmaster was Wm. Kieth, the second was John Schamber, the third was Farley, the fourth was C. Guenthner, the fifth was Wm. Dewald, the sixth was Dr. A. A. Wipf, the seventh was P. R. Stading, the eighth was C. Oldewurtel, the ninth was Mrs. C. Oldewurtel, the tenth was Francis Smidt, the eleventh was A. A. Schmidt, who is the present postmaster.

NEWSPAPER

The Freeman Courier was established in 1901, the first issue went into the mail April 11, 1901. The Parkston Courier was established in 1897 but the town was too small for two papers. Osborn of Springfield bought the plant and started the Freeman Courier. We had bought a farm on the edge of town on the installment plan. The town was very anxious to have a paper but Osborn and his partner decided to quit and the town went after us to buy the paper and quit teaching school in winter. Their talking point was in case of crop failure we will not be able to pay the installment plan prices but by having the paper we would always have some income and we decided to buy. There is nothing wrong in following your bent in life when deciding on your life's work but we never dreamed of the newspaper business.

BANKING BUSINESS

It took many years before Freeman had a substantial banking institution. C. Buechler had started the first bank in 1883. Reif of Marion opened a bank here. Frank Buck opened a bank here but all these banks were in business for only a short time. In the latter 90's Buechler established the Freeman State Bank but he discontinued the business after a few years. In 1899 Gotthelf of Parker and John Schamber of Freeman established the Merchants State Bank. The First National Bank of Freeman was established in 1902 and now we have two strong banking institutions.

The first board of directors for the Merchants State Bank in August 1899 were John Schamber, L. K. Lord, M. J. Gotthelf and Christ Guenther. The construction of the new brick building was in 1913-14. Present officers are Jacob J. Wollmann, President; Henry L. Gross, Vice President; J. J. Tschetter, Cashier; Harris L. Hofer, Assistant Cashier. Present directors are Henry L. Gross, Fred J. Stolp, J. J. Tschetter, Jacob J. Wollmann, Michael J. Wollmann.

The First National Bank charter is dated March 29, 1902. (No. 6181). Operation began March 14, 1902 in rented quarters owned by Benj. Waltner, now the Huber Motor Service building. Articles of incorporation were drawn January 17, 1902, with Joseph P. Graber, Benj. Waltner, Jacob J. Waltner and John J. Waltner. Plans were drawn in 1906 by Boyer & Boyer Contractors and Builders of Yankton, South Dakota, and construction of the new bank building started in the spring of 1907. The first officers were Jacob J. Waltner, President; John C. Mueller, Vice President; Benj. Waltner, Second Vice President; Andr. J. Waltner, Cashier; and Emil J. Waltner, Asst. Cashier. Present officers (1958) are J. J. Waltner, President; Adolph J. Waltner, Vice President; G. H. Waltner, Vice President; Milton T. Mehlhaf, Cashier; Ralph Korn, Bookkeeper; and Robert Tschetter, Bookkeeper. Present Directors are J. J. Waltner, Adolph J. Waltner, G. H. Waltner, John Waltner Jr. and David J. Mueller.

BARBER BUSINESS

In the early days men wore whiskers and beauty shops for the women were unknown. The men had their haircuts and shaves at home or by some neighbor. It took many years before a tonsorial artist dared to put up a barber sign. The first barber in Freeman was G. T. Zeller in the latter 90's. Today we have three barber shops: the Will Wilde shop, the Leon Gering shop and the Jake Gering shop. Wilde started in 1914, Jake Gering in 1910, and Leon Gering in 1914.

BLACKSMITH SHOP

Our first three blacksmiths were Jacob Gross, Jacob Wipf and Alex Wipf. It was the custom in the old country to learn a trade. Those knowing the blacksmith trade had a good opening here, surrounded by an exceptionally industrious farming country. Later our blacksmiths were Dan Wiegum, Ferd Janke, Chas. Mutschelknaus, Jacob Delzer, Andrew Delzer, Fred Wallender, Chas. Wilde and the present blacksmith is Oliver Kaufman and Helmuth Mutschelknaus. Jacob Gross was the father of the late John J. Gross. Jacob Wipf was the father of Mrs. Paul R. Hofer and Alex Wipf was the father of Alex Wipf.

HOTEL INDUSTRY

Freeman was a good trading point and was never overlooked by agents. But traveling men had to live on cheese and crackers. C. Buechler and John Gross opened a hotel on the present Dr. Hofer corner. Later Dan Mehrer opened a hotel on the present Jack & Jill corner and he kept open until 1906 when he moved to Dallas. Frank Zickrick also operated a hotel here. The third hotel was built by Jacob Kautz on the present Co-op Oil Company corner. The present Freeman Hotel was erected by Anthony Miller, built in 1952, a place the town can feel proud of.

GRAIN BUYERS

The first grain buyer in Freeman was John Borman who came from Iowa and he started buying grain here in the 90's. The farmers here were hard workers, and in a few years had a large acreage under cultivation and many grain houses were needed. At first they had only flat-houses. Grain buyers had to work hard. Today they press the button and the work is done but in the early days the grain was hauled in sacks. The buyer had to take each sack and cart it on the scale and after it was weighed it was carted to the storage bin. When they had enough grain in the bin to fill a car the grain was carted into the car. A farmer elevator was erected back in the 80's. John L. Hofer was the first manager and C. Buechler was the first president of the Co-op. Grain Co. The present grain elevators are Farmers Coop. Grain Assn., Park Lane and Shanard Elevator. In 1900 we had 8 grain elevators.

LIVERY BARN

Every little boy knows what a garage is but only old people know what a livery barn is. In the early days the livery barn was very important. If an agent went through he went to the livery barn for a team to go to the next town. If a doctor had a call he went to the livery barn whether it was midnight or any other time of the day. The first Freeman livery barn was located south of the present Thompson Yard and his house was on the east end of the lot, lately occupied by the Aaron Koerner family. It was wrecked in spring of 1957. Henry Pfeiffer was the owner of the first livery barn and he was also a partner in the lumber business. Jacob A. Wollman owned the livery barn on the present Schamber Service Station corner. Jake Reuther was also one who ran the livery barn.

BAKERY

We have had several bakeries. The present bakery is operated by Mr. and Mrs. LaVern Mettler, a good place to buy your baked goodies.

FREEMAN FLOUR MILL

A live place like Freeman was an inducement to one interested in a flour mill. John Williams, a Spring Valley farmer, established a flour mill in Freeman in 1896, but after two years sold it to C. Buechler and opened a store in Dalmeny, Canada, where he died in 1923. Mrs. Williams lived in Freeman and at the F. C. Ortman Home for Aged. About 1940 C. Buechler sold the mill to P. P. and Ike Kleinsasser. Later the mill was destroyed by fire. The location is the present Park Lane place where they are buying grain and manufacture all kinds of stock feeds.

SALOONS IN FREEMAN

Freeman had three saloons for several years, Jake Reuther, Frank Zickrick and John Kleinsasser. The town was voted dry in 1913 but the result was not what was expected. The law was passed, but all was in vain. You can't improve a man morally by force.

STORES IN FREEMAN

In 1900 Freeman had ten stores. The first store in Freeman opened by Buechler in 1879 and 20 years later ten stores—that shows Freeman always enjoyed a large trade territory. The following are the names of the places: Schamber's Store on the corner, in 1882. M. Wollmann quit in Marion and bought the Huber and Schempp store in 1886. Next was John Feiock's store that was sold to K.&K. Co. in 1910. C. Wacker and Ed Walz opened a store, then changed to Wacker and M. Kleinsasser. Later Joe I. Walter became the owner of the store, after that his son Arthur became the owner. The Kaufman and Waltner store was located on the south side of the Huber Motor Co. and the building is the present home for Aged building. A Gering's store was on the present post office lot. The Baer Bros. store is the present Ellwein Co. store that was built by Paul and Andrew Kleinsasser and later was sold to Baer Bros. On the Standard Service Station corner was the Geo. Gross store. In 1901 Wipf Bros. bought the Guenther & Haar store. Hofer & Tschetter store was south of the Thompson Yards. Two were hardware stores, Wipf Bros. and Baer Bros. M. Wollmann was in partnership with Jacob Hieb in Marion since 1883. Jacob Hieb was in partnership with C. Buechler from 1879 to 1883 when Buechler sold his interest to M. Wollmann.

In 1889 Peter Goertz of Marion, John W. Tschetter of Freeman and George Gross, who was farming 4 miles west of Freeman, bought the corner lot where the Huber Gas Station is located now and conducted a general merchandise business until the company dissolved a few years later. Goertz and Tschetter sold out to Gross who was now the sole owner. Goertz was a former clerk in the Jacob Hieb store in Marion and held that position until he retired. The Goertz dwelling house in Freeman was sold to C. Baer. Gross added a furniture store to his line of general merchandise. In 1907 Gross died and the Freeman Mercantile Co. continued the business.

After John W. Tschetter sold his interest in the corner store he formed a partnership with Andrew Hofer. They opened a general merchandise business in the building just south of the present Thompson Yards office, which stayed there until they retired.

In 1890 Paul Kleinsasser and Andrew Kleinsasser erected the present main building of the Ellwein Dewald Co. store and besides were handling machinery business. After they were in business for a few years Wm. Dewald took it over and later it was sold to Baer Bros. and Baer Bros. sold to Ellwein Dewald & Co., and added the hardware line and general merchandise. Owners were Wm. Dewald, Jacob Ellwein, Dave Ellwein, Ed. Ellwein, Emil Ellwein and Leo Ellwein since 1914 and the Ellweins are still in business in 1958.

In 1893 Aaron Peters erected a two story building on the present Huber Motor lot and opened a store. Later he sold out to Kaufman and Waltner and the building was sold to Peter C. Graber for a home, which is the present Salem Home for Aged building.

Fred Jundt moved into Freeman from the farm in 1902. He formed a partnership with Christ Guenthner and operated a general merchandise store under the name of Guenthner & Jundt. This business sold out to John Walz, Jr. Mr. Jundt then worked at odd jobs for a short time. Then he went into general merchandise again under the firm name of Jundt-Ellwein. This business dissolved after several years. For a short time he worked for M. Wollmann as a clerk in the store. Then he formed a partnership with John M. Wollmann, Otto Gering and Jacob H. Wipf, which was general merchandise, hardware and furniture, and operated under the name of Peoples' Department Store. This business was sold about 1925-26. Then he opened a combination variety store and bakery with John Schuldt, in the present John K. Hofer building, which Mr. Jundt owned. Poor health forced him to sell out the business and retire. The building he retained and leased to a baker.

Sam Preheim was operating furniture and 5 and 10c store in 1923 and sold out in 1943 to the present Co-op Oil and Gas, when a new brick building was erected by the Co-op later.

Guenthner & Jundt, also Jundt-Ellwein were operated in the building presently occupied by Art Walter and Dr. A. A. Walter. People's Dept. Store was in the present Art Walter Furniture Store. In 1918 John M. Wollmann bought the People's Store, in about 1938 sold out to Gelfand, and Ferd Walter was the next owner in the old M. Wollmann building. In 1910 K.&K. Co. opened a store in Freeman and was sold in 1957 to Talley Berhard. Miller's Red & White opened in 1938. It was sold to Kenneth Wieland in 1950.

IMPLEMENT DEALERS

In 1882 Guenthner & Haar started. In 1901 Haar started his business. The Haar family made an exceptional record when it comes to implement business, over 75 years conducting an implement business. The third generation of Haars is now running the business. Alfred Haar is the present manager. In the old days A. Gering, A. D. Schmidt, Paul and Andrew Kleinsasser, and M. Wollmann were selling machinery but only for a short time. In 1909 the Farmers Implement Co. was organized. In 1911 this company was incorporated under the name of Farmers Co-operative Co. and operated as such until 1946. In 1946 Eldon H. Graber and Eldon P. Senner formed a partnership and bought the business. In 1944 a modern new 110'x50' brick and tile building with a quonsette storage was erected. The other implement dealer is Jack's Implement.

GARAGES

Freeman today has a number of Garages, a welding shop and a body shop; so your car troubles can all be cured in Freeman. Their names are the Square Deal, J. J. Albrecht owner; the Huber Motor; the Gross Garage; Goehring's Body Shop; the Co-op Oil Co.; the Gross Welding Shop; and the Freedom Garage, etc.

GAS STATIONS

We have several gas stations. The Haar's Service Station, the White Eagle Service Station, the Huber Service Station, the Co-op. Service Station and the Schamber Service Station. If you run out of gas it's your own fault.

TELEPHONE EXCHANGE

The Freeman Telephone Exchange was installed by J. W. Wipf and C. Guenthner in 1902. In 1906 was sold to Josua S. Hofer and M. K. Hofer and shortly after to J. J. Mendel. In 1917 it was sold to ten East Freeman farmers and later it was sold to the present owner, Carl Beier.

FREEMAN LIGHT PLANT

In 1914 Math Hafner, R. Dewald, A. W. Gross and J. J. Mendel built an electric light plant in Freeman. After a year or so Hafner traded his shares for land at Dallas. In 1917 Dewald and Gross sold out to Mendel who operated it till 1927, then sold out to Northwestern Public Service Co.

MEAT MARKETS

In a new town there is not much of a demand for a meat market because people raise their own pigs and chickens and keep a cow. But Guenthner & Haar opened a meat market in the early days where the Thompson Yard is now located. A little later they sold out to Ruede Bros. Philipp Mensch arrived from Russia in 1889 and worked for them for a year at $175.00 a year and board. In 1894 they sold out to Philipp Mensch. For a time Andrew Delzer and Jacob Reinschmidt were in the meat market business. Mensch was in business till 1907 when he sold out to Butcher Tschetter and Tschetter retired in 1928 and in 1930 L. W. Morfeld and Henry Bierman bought the present building meat market. Now Leo Laber is the manager since 1948, after being employed since 1934. John J. Schrag was in the meat market business on the Krueger corner.

HARNESS SHOPS

A. Kautz came to Freeman in 1901 and opened a harness shop but conditions changed so much from horse power to motor power and since nine years ago he devoted much time to furniture repairing and canvas repairing.

DRAY LINE

The first building in a railroad town is a depot. If a store opens in that town there must be a drayman to haul goods from the depot to the store. In Freeman the first dray line was operated by Mr. Whiler, then by Henry Pfeiffer, and Jake A. Kleinsasser was the drayman for many years. Others were Henry Mensch and Henry Wilde, Ben Graber in 1919 and sold out in 1943 to Jacob E. Hofer, the present drayman. Among the draymen was R. Baer.

SHOE SHOPS

Andrew Gering started a shoe shop in 1909. In 1931 his son Charley took it over. Later Henry P. Graber also opened a shoe repair shop. Others in this business were C. J. Janzen and Chas. A. Kaufman.

JEWELRY STORES

The first jewelry store in Freeman was opened by Rev. Joseph Kaufman, who with all his other work, found time and interest for that line of work. Later his son, George, took over the business.

In point of service, Henry C. Gering, better known by his nickname, "BONES," operated his jewelry business for a longer time than any other jeweler. The present jewelers in Freeman are Oscar Gering and Leonard Dubs.

CREAMERY

Freeman had two creameries in the early days. All the milk was taken to town and had to be separated in the creamery, then the farmer took the milk home for the pigs and the calves and the creamery paid the farmer for the cream. About 1900 the news spread that now small cream separators are made for the farmer and he can separate the milk at home. That created a demand for cream buyers and we soon had them, but had no creamery. But in the course of time a move was made to locate a creamery in Freeman and the present Co-op Creamery is the result. Manager Bruun is an exceptional hustler and today the Freeman Creamery is sending out trucks every day to gather the cream and eggs.

In the middle 90's a new institution sprang up and that was the creamery. It was easy to see that the town with a creamery had a big advantage in getting trade. The farmer will buy where he gets his cream check. Competition is the life of a town and it was in this case. A. Gering and his brother Peter started the first creamery in Freeman north of the stock yards. The next step was Bridgewater and Freeman started a creamery between Bridgewater and Freeman. Joe L. and Joe M. Hofer had a store in Bridgewater and they were back of this move. The Schempp creamery was moved on the P. J. Kleinsasser block and is now the home of Mrs. Jeremiah Pollman. The first creamery was moved on the Jake M. Huber block. All the creamery enthusiasm died a natural death when the small cream separator came in use and every farmer had one. Before that the farmer hauled his milk in town to have it separated and took the milk back home for the pigs and calves, selling the cream to the creamery.

Since 1930 we have the present Co-op creamery with Walt Bruun as manager.

RESTAURANTS AND OTHER BUSINESS

A. A. Waldner started the Sugar Bowl. After running this for some time, the building was destroyed by fire. Jonathan Waltner bought the south lot and built up was called the New Sugar Bowl in the spring of 1922. He operated this for three years, when he passed away in 1925. Arthur Graber rented the place for a couple of years. In 1927 John A. Wipf bought the building and moved his plumbing and heating into the building. John started the plumbing and heating business in 1921 in the Pullman building which is the present Mike Walter Furniture Store. A year after Jonathan Waltner built the Sugar Bowl, A. A. Waldner built up the Shack on the next lot, which he sold to Henry X. Miller who sold it to Ehrisman, who ran the restaurant for a number of years, after which Tom Kaufman bought. The present manager of the restaurant is Ernie Stoebner. The name now is City Cafe. During the depression in 1934 John A. Wipf added the Gamble Store to his plumbing and heating. In 1939 he severed connections with Gamble and changed to Coast-to-Coast Stores. Willis Wipf operated a radio repair shop since 1943 and after serving the Marines he added his T.V. repair shop.

The People of Freeman and Rural Districts

The town of Freeman and the rural districts were settled by people, nearly all coming from Russia, with a few exceptions coming from Scandinavian and German countries. Those coming from Russia originally came from Germany and are called German Russians. They immigrated to Russia in 1773 and later. The settlements here were named after their villages in Russia. For instance, the settlers in Kassel township came from the village of Kassel in Russia. The people in Heilbronn came from the village of Heilbronn in Russia, etc. When they moved to Russia from Germany they named the villages in Russia after their village in Germany. We make this explanation because of the grandchildren who do not know this. No doubt many will also ask themselves why their forefathers moved from one country to another. Here is the answer: The common man has always been opposed to peace time military training. He's for anything that looks like peace, Wilson's slogan, "He kept us out of war" appealed to the common man. Roosevelt's statement, "If I am elected president no sons will go across to fight in Europe," appealed to the common man, etc.

This country received millions of settlers from Europe because we had no peace time military training. The common man of 100 years ago felt the same way. The word "peace" appealed to him. Go back in history and you will find Czarina Katherina II ascended the throne in Russia in 1762. As a moral character she deserves not much respect, but she had a business eye and was very shrewd in business affairs. She was convinced that Russia has not the class of people that will build up her country like the people of Germany would. She had visited several countries and found the people more industrious, but the big problem was how to induce the people to come to Russia—that was the big question. The best inducement she could think of was to offer military exemption to all the German people that come to locate in Russia and in 1773 she issued this imperial edict, exemption from Military service for 100 years. The result was that people flocked from all over Europe—Germany, Austria, Holland and other places to Russia. They were all promised religious freedom but were not allowed to do mission work in Russia which was a strictly Greek Catholic country and all those entering promised to do no mission work.

When 100 years were over they did not go back to the country they came from. They immigrated to the United States and they were called German Russians. Here they helped to develop the best country in the world, the country they have and like.

The pioneers began to arrive here in the early 70's. Hutchinson County was surveyed in 1862 and in 1871 organized by John Henry and Thomas Maxwell with its county boundaries. The first election was held October 8, 1872. A place south of Olivet was called Maxwell City and this was the county seat, but in 1871, Olivet, a Biblical name, was made the county seat. The county was named after John H. Hutchinson, the first Secretary of State of Dakota Territory, as reported by Doane Robinson.

These pioneers had very little money but they had hope, courage and ambition. The mother city of Yankton was the closest railroad town. The Milwaukee completed the road from Sioux City to Yankton in 1873. The land office was at Yankton and men at the office were always ready to locate the immigrants.

The first thing on the program upon arriving at Yankton was to look for an ox team or a team of horses. After he had a team he slowly wended his way north through the tall grass. Sometimes a horse and an ox were hitched together. The future was dark. There were hopes and anxieties about the qualities of the land, and it took much courage to undertake building up and developing of a new and untried region, but all were embued with ambition and enthusiasm.

After reaching this locality and picking their homestead, some kind of a home was needed. The sod house or shanty was put up and some mud houses were built. Along the Jim River some had log cabins. They had the timber. Soon small claim shacks began to dot the prairies. For the wall sod or mud was used and over the planked roof loose earth or sod was spread. A little later the thatched or straw roof was used on some buildings. In some cases planks of native timber were used. As poor as these old timers were, they had to face blizzards, prairie fires, grasshopper plagues and other ravages of nature. Snowstorms blew snow through the key hole into the room and piled up inside. There were no plowed fields to stop a prairie fire.

The people were industrious and soon these shacks were replaced by better homes and family life changed. The home was arranged similar to the homes in Russia. The house had only a dirt floor. A brick kiln separated the house into two rooms. This kiln was called a Russian stove and served them for heating and cooking. The bread was baked in this oven, in long pans; borst, sauerkraut, baked potatoes, roasted meats, etc. The oven was heated with straw or hay. There was very little furniture in the house and often when visitors came boxes had to be used.

Family Life

People were simple but sociable. In Russia they lived in villages and the change here made them feel very lonesome. To break lonesomeness they hitched up a team and the whole family would drive to neighbors to spend Sunday afternoon or evening. The homestead bride was a very modest damsel. No formality on their wedding day. Nobody dreamed of a honeymoon trip or a long writeup in a newspaper. Hand in hand they proceeded to their plain home to share life's joys and sorrows. A rolling pin, a potato masher and some plain pieces of home made furniture was all the newly weds expected — and they were satisfied because they knew only simplicity of life. Women used a piece of a red handkerchief for a hair ribbon, no face powder decorations, simple clothing, no white and brown shoes, a pair of boots (Rohrstiefel) for men. The shoes were bought big enough to save the search for a corn cure. High heels were not known. The stockings mother knitted, did not have all kinds of colors, like Jacob's coat. The home was illuminated with tallow dips or candles. The water was pulled up in a bucket from a well. In cases of sickness the neighbors were very helpful and accommodating, not only in helping with the work but also in suggesting treatments. They would come and sit up through the hours of the night with the afflicted one. It was a neighborly duty with them to render this service, which is being done today by a special nurse. In case of death undertakers were unknown. The neighbors would continue their service sitting up with the departed, digging the grave and performing other acts of helpfulness. To charge for this service would have been a disgrace. The coffin was homemade by some local carpenter. Flowers for the coffin were absent. The doctor in those days had to be a real hero to respond to a call 30 or 40 miles away.

The Christmas spirit moved quietly in those days. A cheap doll for a girl and a cheap toy for a boy. In those days holidays were not as much commercialized as today. The "why" was more impressed on the children. On Sunday morning the whole family drove to church, some by horse, some by ox team drawing a lumber wagon. Services were much longer than today.

A party who has been a clerk in a Freeman store for almost fifty years says in the old days women came to town twice a year, spring and fall. Store conditions have changed and so have customers. The customers are harder to satisfy than they used to be because there are so many varieties to select from.

Parents living on the farm who had children of school age found it inconvenient here compared to Russia where they lived in a village. At first the school term was only three months but soon the school year was much longer. Dressing was very simple. Evenings were spent at home by young and old. Fathers were busy making some home-made articles and mothers kept their spinning wheel running. Youngsters were busy making some playthings at home, yet those pioneer children and grandchildren enjoyed life just as much, if not more, than many today who are spoiled by their indulgences.

In those early days people believed in going to bed early. They believed in the saying, "Early to bed, and early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise." When one borrowed money from another, the man who borrowed the money took the money and the note so he would know when the note is due. That shows their honesty and confidence in each other.

The children were always under home influence while today so many are under outside influence. The auto contributes much to this change. We do not want to be a calamity howler, but it's an actual fact, in pioneer days, the people young and old, were more content and more grateful than now with all our modern conveniences and the highest standard of living in the world, and possessing the highest degree of intelligence attainable. This "push button age" is not enough appreciated by our present generation. A person must go through hardship before he can appreciate good days. Too many are born today with a golden spoon in his mouth.

Pioneer Farming

Early day farming was a matter of hard work and very limited return for your sweat, just barely sufficient for food supply and a few dollars in cash. These new settlers were all farmers in the old country and they were determined to stick to that occupation here in America. They knew how to operate a farm in the old country but it was like an experiment station to them here. No county agent could be consulted for advice. The government had three methods of granting land. The government was very anxious to have the land settled. A man or a woman had a chance to file on a homestead, filing fee was $14.00 and you had to live on the land. You could also file on a timber claim and plant 10 acres of trees. You could also file on a preemption after you filed on a homestead. It cost $200.00 to prove a timber claim. If one could prove that one did not live on his homestead, he could contest the title. They were called "claim jumpers" and were very unpopular. In the early days when land was opened for settlement people rushed for land like thirsty cattle to a pond.

The first thing a farmer needed was a walking plow to turn the sod. The power to pull the plow was usually an oxteam. Today if you want more power you give more gas. At that time they used a bigger whip or twisted the oxtail for more power. Other machines needed were a seeder and a drag. Much sowing was done by hand. They also needed a grass mower, rake and harvester for cutting the grain. For the binding straw was used as long as the binding was by hand. In a few years the self-binder was invented. At first wire was used for binding but they changed to twine binding because cattle died due to wire in the straw. Mice and crickets liked the change. For corn planting the hand planter was used and some claimed to plant as many as 9 acres a day. They worked long hours in the early days. 9 acres meant walking many miles in plowland.

Threshing seemed to have a social side for the young people because there was a crew of some 20 people. If not enough beds some slept in the haymow. Mother had to work hard to feed the crew. The machine was driven by a horsepower, 5 to 7 teams walking in a circle. They protected gardens by a ditch around the garden to keep livestock out. Labor was paid 75c a day or $15.00 a month. To get a supply of flour, wheat was taken to the mill and exchanged for flour.

In the early days people cooperated without a Co-op. Co. organization. If a building was lost all the neighbors helped to build it without pay. The winter of 1880-1881 had many snow storms and the snow on the flat roofs of the barns of mud and sod caved in and the cows had to be taken out of the barn through the roof.

The closest market was Yankton and produce was hauled to Yankton by ox team and wheat sold at 40c a bushel, eggs 6c, butter 6c. But the time from 1890 to 1900 improved much. Old homes and barns were replaced by new ones, more modern machinery was used. Steam engines were being used, and gasoline engines came in for threshing and other purposes. More buggies and carriages were bought. Salaries for teachers varied from $16 to $50 a month. Close to 1900 land price raised to $50 an acre and many went north to file on land. What would the old pioneer, who went to his eternal resting place some 65 years ago say if he would see the present conditions:—airplanes flying, autos moving 90 miles an hour, combines cutting and threshing the grain, when he had to cut, bind, shock, stack and then thresh his grain. Or compare the tractor plowing to oxtteam plowing or take the conveniences in the house:—the electric washer, ironing, etc. Hauling the grain to Yankton at 40c a bushel seems trouble enough.

The year 1879 when the first train whistle was heard in Freeman ended much trouble, and developed many wonderful improvements. The first train whistle in Freeman was sweeter music to the old timers, than anything that was ever sung here since that time and we know how much good singing is heard in Freeman.

Why Some Moved North

Land raised in price and young people went north to file on land. By 1900 land sold at $15 to $25 an acre.

RURAL SETTLEMENTS

MOLAN

We had good rural settlements. Molan was settled by people coming from Scandinavia, Russian and from the eastern states. The first one to homestead were Christ Carter in 1876, Christ Hansen and Sam Hansen came in 1880, H. G. Mosby arrived in 1879. Others arriving in 1880 were Peter Jorstad, John M. Downer, John Nieu's father. In 1879 we find the Hehns, Gottlieb Wagner, H. P. Harnisch, C. Maas, L. Oswald, C. P. Dickman, etc. Ourtown was the post office. No conveniences in those days. B. Solberg carried a 50 lb. sack of flour from Gayville where he worked up here. H. G. Mosby's mother carried eggs, the price was 5c a dozen, butter 5c a lb, to the store at the bridge and walked to Yankton to do the shopping. These new settlers, the old timers always liked to talk about their experiences. In 1882 John M. Downer went to Yankton to celebrate July 4th. Sitting Bull was there from Fort Randall with a guard of 20 U. S. soldiers. Mr. Downer shook hands with Sitting Bull, the Indian Chief who weighed about 300 lbs., was dressed in Sioux robes and smoked a pipe that reached down to his waist. Christ Hansen and Sam Hausen came in 1888. H. G. Mosby in 1879, from New York. Peter Jorstad, John Weier's, father, Christ Carter, came in 1876. The first child born in the settlement was H. C. Edelman. For a while Newport was the post office, later Ourtown, and the last post office was Molan.

HEILBRONN

When Czarina Katharina ruled Russia she was looking for German settlers to build up her country, and the best inducement she could offer was exemption from military service for 100 years to the Germans because she knew they are industrious. This was in 1773 and many left Kassel, Johannesthal and Heilbronn in Germany and moved to Russia. In 1873 this exemption period expired and many moved to America, and those coming to this locality from Heilbronn in Germany called this place Heilbronn. Those arriving here in 1874 were Jacob Guenther, George Huber, Jake Huber, Jake Huber Sr., Jake Huber Jr., M. Huber, Martin Hafner, John Hafner, M. Schamber, Peter Zeeb, Peter Schoppert, Gottlieb Stern, Jake Stern. In 1875 and later others arrived here and in Johannesthal and Wolf Creek and Clayton. Others arriving were Haar, Heins, Ellwein, Pfeiffer, Dewald, Nuss, Dubs, Walz, Mettler, etc. The Heilbronn community paid much attention to church and school. Their past record will verify this statement. At first services were held in homes and also school. Rev. Doescher preached in Johannesthal in 1874 and in Heilbronn in 1875. In 1876 the Heilbronn congregation was organized and a church building was erected in 1878, the first church building in the county and was located one mile north of the old location on the Henry Hafner farm. Hafner donated the land. The present church building was erected in 1924. In the absence of the minister John Dubs conducted the reading service and also had charge of the Children Catechism class. For twenty years he served as elder. Only a few communities maintained a parochial school and Heilbronn is one. In 1893 a building was erected and used for a school and home and teacher Wenzlaff had charge of the school till 1913 when he died. In 1912 a new school house was built and the old one was used used for a home. When Metz was teacher the enrollment was 30 and church membership was 180.

KASSEL

The Kassel settlement started in 1874 by people coming from Kassel in Russia, and some came from northwest of Yankton where they settled down first. Ludwig Mehlhaf who died in 1847 at the age of 82 years was the first settler here. Others arriving are John, Jake, George, Philip, and Fred Neuharth, Ludwig, Konrad, Philip, Martin and Valentine Pressler. John Hoff and others came from Yankton and Lesterville where they settled in 1873.

The Kassel church was organized in 1879 and Rev. Orth was the first pastor. The Kassel church was served by Rev. Bonekempfer, Rev. Platgen, Rev. Scheidt, Rev. Hofer, and Rev. Huehneman.

KLEINKASSEL

This settlement was named Kleinkassel because north of Menno is the big Kassel settlement. This settlement started in 1874. Many of the settlers arrived in 1879. The first to arrive were John Koerner, Adam Nuss, Henry Goehring, Geo. Becker, Peter Bentz, Mike Haff, John Reich, and George Aman. All were full of hope. They bought a small building from Franz Walter for a school house. At first church services were held in the house, but in 1896 a church building was erected and used till 1931 when it was sold to John J. Koerner, and a new building was erected. Rev. Orth was the minister. Church and school always had first attention by these people.

JOHANNESTHAL

All other settlements were named after their village in Russia and so was Johannesthal. The settlement started in 1874 when all was wild prairie. The people were directed here by Baum and Dickman. All settlers here were from Johannesthal, Russia, except the Holzwarths were from Rohrbach in Russia. The first settlers were Andrew Bertsch, Christ Auch, Philip Holzwarth, John Schatz, Christ Delzer, John Schemp, Jacob Schatz, and Fred Mutschelknaus. At first church services were held in the house. Up to 1879 Rev. Doescher served the Heilbronn and Johannesthal people, but in 1879 Johannesthal erected a small church and was served by a reformed minister. In 1880 Rev. Melcher organized the Wolf Creek Church and in 1885 they divided and some members that left the Wolf Creek Church organized the Congregational Church. The settlement soon prospered. A church was erected which serves even today. The Kassel and the Johannesthal Reformed Churches are served by the same minister. The Menno and the Kassel Reformed Churches were at first one congregation, but in 1891 they separated and now there are two congregations. The present ministers are Rev. Wm. Korn and Rev. Kaempchen. The Kassel Church was organized in 1874.

CLAYTON

The Clayton settlement started in 1870 and some of the first settlers were Langle, Jans, Rademacher, Guericke, Liebl, Mettler, Decombaz, Kuhlman, etc. This settlement soon developed into a prosperous community. They have three churches to serve the community; the Clayton Lutheran Church, The Congregational Church, and the Wolf Creek Lutheran Church. The nine charter members of the Clayton Church are Henry Harnisch, Henry Kitzman, Henry Schemp, Ernest Kapsch, John Drewitz, Louis Ahrendt, John Keiper, Valentine Keiper, and Conrad Guericke. At first services were held in homes, later in school. John Keiper and Kuhlman settled in 1882. They came from Iowa. Conrad Guericke, Henry Kuhlman, Gottlieb Stern, Peter Schoppert, Henry Dickman, and Jacob Huber settled in 1874. Henry Mayer and John Mettler, Philip Schneider and Peter Schneider settled in 1875. Steve Jatón, and Henry and Albert Jatón settled a little later. Mike, Jake, and Philip Stern came in 1874.

THINGS OF INTEREST—CITY OF FREEMAN

1900 - 1957

- C. Mutschelknaus is erecting a building in the south part of town and will sell the Plano machines.
- A new school building is erected and the old school building was sold to the town for a City Hall.
- Schamber Bros. are moving their Store building on a lot east side of Main Street and will erect a new two story brick building.

1901

- Kaufman and Waltner erected a new two-story building now the Huber Corner.
- Dr. Lifasknty of Chicago opened an office above Schamber's Store.
- Frank Zikrick opened a Saloon in the Schrag building.
- A passenger train was put on our branch line.
- School enrollment is 141 in Freeman. Beers is the Principal.
- Jake Reuther erected a new livery barn on the present Schamber Service Station corner.
- J. J. and Joe L. Wipf bought the Guenthner and Haar Hardware Store.
- Over 40 horses dropped dead in harvest from heat.
- Dave Ellwein bought the Tinner tools from Guenthner and Haar.
- The Freeman Cemetery Association bought lots from Henry Nuss for cemetery ground and paid $35.00 for the lot.
- Dr. A. A. Wipf sold his interest in the Drug Store to C. Guenthner.
- Gottlieb Wagner had the lowest bid and will haul the butter from the Molan Creamery to Menno at 11½ per tub.
- The Molan Store was sold to C. Guenthner and he sold it to G. J. Dobler, who sold it again and moved to North Dakota.
- The assessed valuation of Freeman is $145,535.00. Money is being collected for a $15,000.00 college.
- Over 1000 trains stood still when McKinley was buried.
- Jake H. Unruh, John W. Tschetter, R. Baer, Jake Ruther and M. J. Gotthelf erected new houses.
- The State Fair is held at Yankton.
- The County School Census shows 2431 boys and 2248 girls.
- C. C. Vogt opened a photograph gallery.

It ought to be of interest to know why our County Seat was called Olivet. These early settlers were as a rule religious. The name of Olivet appealed to them because Olivet means "Member of Monastery," a home for aged men of religious retirement.

The County has 28 eighth grade graduates.

April 11, 1901 the first Freeman Courier was printed.

1902

- The Freeman State Bank was opened by the Beuchlers.
- The First National Bank opened and with Jos. P. Graber as President, and A. J. Waltner, cashier.
- In this year's election 175 voted straight Republican 5 straight Democratic and 9 were scattered.
- Freeman was improved by cement sidewalks on Main Street.
- Dr. A. A. Wipf and Dave Ellwein erected new houses.
- A Telephone Exchange is installed.
- On June 17 a storm caused much damage.
- John Feiok is erecting a new store building.
- C. C. Vogt sold his gallery to John J. Gross.
- Henry Weber and Joseph Tschetter Jr. open a mill in Ashley, N. Dak.
- Up till June 1902 the Freeman Courier was printed by Osborn and Williams and after this was printed by J. J. Mendel.

1903

- The first rural telephone line is now built south.
- Freeman has now 2 hotels, the Kautz and the Mehner.
- Henry Dewald, Guenthner of Bridgewater and Barney Nuss left for Russia on a visit.
- Delzer Bros. erected a new Blacksmith Shop.

1904

- J. W. Wipf sold his share in the Drug Store and moves to Olivet.
- Jacob A. Wollmann sold his livery barn to F. L. Rosenkrans.

Jacob A. Wollmann sold his share in the elevator to his brother A. A. Wollmann.

Jacob A. Wollman sold his drayline to Henry Reede.

Freeman College has an enrollment of 114.

Dr. J. P. Isaac of Kansas located here.

1905

Schatz and Aman quit their store in Marion.

The Molan Creamery was sold to C. Maas for $175.

N. P. Christensen is now buying cream and eggs in Molan.

Secretary of State D. D. Wipf appointed J. J. Kleinsasser as 1st Clerk.

Jake M. Wollman accepted a position with the Merchants State Bank after clerking in the M. Wollman Store since 1886.

Paul Landman started a lumber yard in Freeman.

After July 1st every death and every birth must be reported to the County Seat.

The population of Freeman is 602.

1906

Kleinsasser Bros. traded the roller mill for land in N. Dak.

1907

Dr. John L. Waldner opened an office in Parkston.

C. Wacker opened a store in Garrison N. Dak.

C. Guenther and Sons opened a bank in Dallas.

Dr. J. H. Wipf has located in Freeman.

Jake Stolp sold the drayline to R. Baer.

Dr. M. M. Hofer located in Dallas.

Ike Kleinsasser opened an implement business in Dallas.

J. J. Kleinsasser bought the Geo. Gross furniture Store.

Emil Wenzel and Joe A. Hofer opened a store in Dallas.

C. Guenther sold the Drug Store to Andrew Hofer and Jake J. Pollman for $13,000.00.

Dewald and Walter sold the Marion Mill.

The St. Paul Lutheran Church observed their Silver Anniversary. 315 were baptized the past 25 years, 208 Confirmed, and 60 buried.

1908

R. Dewald bought an interest in a Yale elevator and is now a grain buyer.

We now have 2 autos in Freeman, A. Kautz has one and Peter Fliginger one.

The John Schamber family moved to Wessington.

Dr. Henry J. Kaufman located in Freeman.

1909

The St. Paul School enrollment is 70.

Guenthners sold the Dallas bank.

The Public School enrollment is 157.

A new St. Paul School building was built.

1910

Wm. L. Groves moved his family to Freeman from Sanborn, Iowa. He is the section boss now.

Wm. Borman moved to Canada.

John J. Schrag sold his meat market to John E. Kleinsasser.

R. Haar is now the Queal Lumber Co. Manager.

Ed. Ellwein's father bought the tin shop and Ed. is the tinner.

Wm. Jans sold his interest in the Bank to R. Dewald.

1911

Rev. Brodland accepted to serve the Molan Salem congregation.

John E. Kleinsasser sold his Meat Market to Jake Haar.

1912

Fred Haar business moved into its new location.
Jake T. Gross started to buy cream, and will make Ice Cream.
Otto Schamber bought the Spencer news.

1919

Jake T. Gross bought the old Merchants State building.
Wilde Bros. bought the Delzer Blacksmith Shop.
Henry Mensch sold his dray line to Henry Wilde.
Dr. M. J. Wollman opened an office in Freeman.
Ben Graber started dray line in 1919.

1920

John A. Wipf opened a Plumbing Shop.

1921

John T. Gross opened a cream station in Bridgewater.
Jacob S. Graber opened a Meat Market in Freeman.
J. J. Albrecht bought the Schrage garage.

1922

Joe T. Gross opened a cream station in Hitchcock.

1923

The College Gym was erected.
C. C. Unruh sold his invention for a washmachine for $15,000.00.
Fred Haar opened an Implement Store in Olivet.

Hon. John Schamber died in Dec. 1923 in Hot Springs hospital age 67 years. When his doctor said his case is hopeless, he said "I am ready to go home." He served as County Treasurer and also as State Treasurer. He was very industrious and honest 7 days in the week.

1924

The First National Bank of Bridgewater was closed.
John Stucky opened a cleaning shop.
The Yankton Bridge was dedicated.

1929

Jake T. Gross started a hatchery in 1929.

1939

In 1939 the average salary of the teachers in this County is $58.50 a month. In Turner County $62.64, and in McCook it's $60.62.
A. Kautz has been selected to do W. P. A. work in the line of repairing furniture. The work is free; you pay for material.

Clarence Gering of Freeman was appointed deputy County Auditor.

Dr. E. F. Tieszen is leaving Doland, coming back to Freeman to continue his practice.

A force of men are replacing the old walls of the Wipf Bros. Store and remodeling the store. The building was erected 57 years ago. A new front was put in.

The Schamber Bros. Store is being repaired and some changes made. The building is about 40 years old.

Rev. Bodeman, pastor of Menno and Freeman Reformed Churches, resigned and leaves for N. D.

Our Main Street was oiled in 1936 and needed repairing and now work has started in July.

Dr. M. M. Hofer's son, Robert, is busy making a new school bus. Bob does a good job for the community because its quite a convenience to farmers.

The Freeman Library was opened to the public in April with 210 books and has increased to 664 by September 300 people have read 2,964 books.

Wm. Morfeld Meat Market intends to install a locker system if enough people in and around are interested. Later—work has started.

Chas. Preheim is excavating a basement at the seed house that will be used for storing trees.

1940

Mrs. Stevensen was here from Springfield visiting at the John M. Wollman home. She will be better remembered here as Mrs. Osborn who started the paper here in the spring of 1901. After they had left here for some time Mr. Osborn died and she was married to Mr. Stevensen.

1957

Herb Fast is wrecking their house, it will be replaced by a modern home, it was the old Lutheran teacherage.

A swimming Pool Fund Drive is on in Freeman.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe M. Walter, of Miller, have taken charge of the Freeman Home for Aged, replacing Mr. and Mrs. Abe Fast.

Dr. Gerald B. Winrod of the Wichita, Kansas, Defender died at his home age of 57 years.

Leonard Preheim and Clarence Preheim opened a tire shop in the Ed. P. Hofer Building.

Dr. Villa and Dr. Irvin Kaufman opened an office in Bridgewater. Dr. Dennis Epp has also joined them.

Leonard Dubs opened a Jewelry Store in August in his building. The Dubs' also operate a lunch room.

Leonard Preheim and Clarence Preheim opened a Tire Shop and do vulcanizing in the Ed. P. Hofer building.

IN THE EARLY DAYS

Haul water to fight fire. It was something common in the early days, to see several barrels on a wagon hauling water for the stock. In case of a prairie fire, the protection was beating it with wet bags or plowing furrows to stop it from spreading.

Many have an idea that hardly anything happened here before this settlement started in 1874. But remember the first church was built in Dakota in 1818 at Pembina.

To give you an idea how strict and particular living conditions were in the German Russian villages in Russia, we for an example take the village Glueckstahl, the home of John Gross of this City of Freeman. Glueckstahl had a population of over 2000 people. They had one Reformed church and one Lutheran church and the churches were on very friendly terms. The young people had to attend Sunday School until they were 20 years old. If one missed Sunday School he had to pay a fine of 5c. If this fine was not paid by the time he was married the preacher was not allowed to marry him. All the people had to attend church services on Sunday. Church people were not allowed to attend markets on Sunday, but were expected to visit neighbors and friends when church services were over. In case an article was stolen and the party that stole it was discovered, the party with the stolen article had to carry it through the street, hold it up high, stop at every crossing for a while. The officers called Schultz (Mayor) and the school children marched along with this offender. At every crossing where they stopped the Schultz made a short speech telling the children how important it is to live right and be obedient to the home, school and church. At the end of this march through the street, the offender received five lashes on his back. All this left an impression on the children who saw it. A performance like that would no doubt decrease crime cases. People who make it a study say emotional reaction of children to moving pictures is from 2 to 8 times greater than that of adults. Due to this fact, those moving pictures are dangerous that deal with crime, divorce murder, robbery and gambling, etc.

1880-1881

The winter of 1880-1881 the Old Timers called the Big Winter. Trains were not running for weeks and supply of flour and feed was exhausted. Coffee mills were used for grinding wheat. The only way to the mail was to go to Canton by team to get the mail and other supplies. Snow was deep, weather cold, tips of fingers were frozen, ears turned white by Jack Frost. The summer of 1880 was dry and the wheat was 10-12 bushels to the acre. Sod houses and shanties were covered with snow. Hay was sold for $20 a ton, flax was 8 bushels to the acre.

1897

Guenthner and Haar received 5 carloads of machinery.

Fred Haar sold his house in town and moves on the farm.

Christ Ellwein loaded 4 cars and moves to Bowdle, and Jacob L. Hofer was called to take a picture of the Ellweins' before they moved.

Dr. A. A. Wipf raised his house and made it a two story.

Jake Flickinger and Christina Knodel were married.

John Schamber went to Pierre ready with his $300,000.00 bonds.

Dan Weigum bought the C. Mutchelknaus blacksmith shop.

Vogt organized a singing school here and in Wittenberg.

Guenthner and Haar built a big machine shed on the north side of the Hardware Store.

Buechler and Dobler bought a creamery in Menno.

M. Wollmann is changing his warehouse to an elevator.

Buechler and Dobler are building a store.

The Christ Ellwein 480 acres were sold to Dewald and Walter for $7000.00.

1898

Peters sold his store to A. D. Schmidt.

The Blum and Delzer building was sold to Hofer and Tschetter.

Wm. Dewald resigned as postmaster and Dr. A. A. Wipf is the new postmaster.

1896

The 16 month old girl of Mr. and Mrs. B. Boyesen fell into a tub of water and drowned.

George Gross moves his store building and is erecting a new building on the corner.

John Borman has rented a building and will sell Deering supplies.

Paul Decker, the County Auditor, was here on business.

John Knodel, John Harnisch, Fred Harnisch and D. J. Mendel served as Jurors at Olivet.

1882

The county now had 2200 children of school age and the school houses were built. Dist. No. 28, 36, 38, 41, 8, 15, 44, 46, and 51.

The Olivet bridge was built at a cost of $2024.00.

1891

We could not find much information about early town government. It seems permanent records were neglected. On Dec. 19, 1891 the citizens of Freeman met and organized. C. Buechler was the chairman of the meeting and P. H. Goertz the secretary. The minutes of the meeting were written in German and all the discussions were in German. The meeting was attended by: C. Buechler, P. H. Goertz, George Schamber, John Hoellwarth, Emanuel Hofer, C. Guenther, C. Wacker, John Doerr, P. Mensch, John Kleinsasser, No. 3, H. Ruede, Jacob Huber, Phillip Huber, A. Pankratz. The permanent officers selected at this meeting were: F. Haar, Chairman; C. Buechler, Sec.; Wm. Dewald, Treasurer. Freeman was incorporated in 1893. Frank Buck, the Freeman banker has disappeared. He said he would open a bank in Lesterville and went to Yankton where he is said to have disappeared, but the Freie Presse says they should look for him in Canada because they saw him leave on the night train.

1892

Phillip Gross paid less than $50 taxes on a section of land, 23 horses, a big herd of cattle and machinery.

1885

Christ Aisenbrey was assessor for Milltown Township and he walked from his home 5 miles southeast to the Milltown farmers to assess them. He had to leave his team at home for field work.

Had many cold winter days 30 below.

1893

John Unruh sold 635 sheep for $2,620.00 and he has over 1000 sheep still left.

Dr. Pearson offered $50,000.00 to Yankton College if they raise $8,000.00. They have 113 students.

C. Buechler, M. Wollman, John Borman were elected Trustees. John Schamber, Clerk; Wm. Dewald, Treasurer; A. Kleinsasser, Assessor; Jake Huber, Marshall.

1894

In 1894 we had a total crop failure. Cows sold from $10 to $15 per head, sheep 90c because there was no feed. A mild winter saved the livestock that was left. The county furnished seed wheat in the spring of 1895.

1884

John Schamber was elected County Treasurer.

Market price this year was: Wool 14c, hogs $3.70, butter 12, wheat 43.

Fred Heiser is now the chairman of the County Commissioners. This year much attention is paid to the Taylor Case. He was the State Treasurer and it was discovered that he was a defaulter. On Jan. 9, 1895 he disappeared. The legislature offered a $2,000.00 reward but the Pickerton Detective Agency would not work for a reward so the legislature appropriated $10,000.00 for the search. Taylor went to Cuba, from there to Mexico and Central America, and Brazil. The Detective traced him but was about 60 days behind. Taylor returned of his own free will in 1895. Suit began and judgment abated $344,277.45. It was learned that in 1894 Taylor transferred all his property to C. H. Wells of Chicago, also all real estate belonging to Northwest Mortgage Co. of which Taylor was president. He was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary by Coe I. Crawford. Much of the loss was covered by his property, that the State took over.

January 12, 1888

Henry Rademacher lost a child by fire.

The biggest blizzard the old settlers here met was on Jan. 12. The day was mild till about 11:00 P.M., then this memorable blizzard started with a fierce wind from the Northwest, the air was filled with fine, dry, blinding snow and the temperature dropped from 40 above to 30 below. In Dakota alone 128 people froze to death. Some were caught out on the road. Five children froze to death in East Freeman while trying to walk home from school. The children were: one was a brother J. J. Albrecht; three were brothers of Jonath Kaufman; and one was Peter O. Graber's son Jonath. The 5 boys were scholars at the Ratzlaff school, now (1957) the Clarence Deckert School. The boys wandered away from the school. In most of the schools the scholars remained in the school room over night.

In the early days the only newspaper found in the homes here was the Yankton Freie Presse. This paper was started in 1874 by Quinke, but after a few months he sold it to Rostztenscher and in 1876 the paper was sold to Gustar Vetter. When he was found dead in bed in 1886 the paper was sold to J. C. Wenzlaff and he sold it later to Soloman Wenzlaff. In 1822 Krause and Wenzlaff became the publishers. In 1898 Wenzlaff sold his share to Ellerman. They sold out to Sallet who moved the plant to Aberdeen in 1906 and in 1920 to New Ulm, Minn. In 1932 the paper was moved to Bismark, N. Dak., where the old Freie Presse is still printed and some here still receive it. Even the County Proceedings were printed in the Freie Presse.

On August 20 the first marriage license was issued in this County to Dick Smith and Eva Hofer. Before this permits were filed in the Register of Deeds office and the preacher filed it.

In the early days Eisenman was elected Register of Deeds; Chris Aisenbrey, Assessor; True, States Attorney; D. Deball, School Superintendent.

In about 1905 John Pankratz sold his 160 acres at Garrison, N. Dak. to M. Wollmann for $850.00 and he sold it to Scott Derrick, first conductor of the Freeman branch train for $3000. Shortly after, John is now building a house in Freeman, the present Ed. Ellwein location.

In the early days when buffaloes roamed the western prairies and many wolves were howling from the woods the settlers here were glad they are not bothered. But Indians annoyed them sometimes. They came through here every year trapping along the Jim. As long as the farmers had enough bread for them they were very friendly, but when the supply was exhausted some were raven mad. Sitting Bull, a Chief, was feared by the farmers very much, but he never appeared here. When pioneers met evenings telling Indian stories, children were afraid to go to bed. The Indian was a good friend, but a bad enemy. He liked whiskey and would give all he had for a drink of whiskey.

The Scotland Academy had several students from this vicinity. The school belonged to the Presbyterian denomination and consolidated with Huron College. With the rapid increase in public high schools, the need for the academy finally came to an end in 1927-1928, and it was discontinued.

1890

A flaxmill will be started in Marion. Henry Dewald is a strong booster for it.

In the early years the raising of flax received much attention and most of the fields were sown to flax. The reason for this was that flax could be planted on newly broken land. They could raise a crop the same year they turned the sod. But in a few years they discovered flax is hard on the land. The fields in flax for several years had no fertility left. Later the land in flax for several years were put in shape by planting corn. Wheat became the main crop.

George Schamber always enjoyed telling how the store business was conducted in the early days. Eggs were brought in by the farmers in pails of oats and were shipped to wholesale houses in barrels packed in straw. There were no paper bags, and sugar, coffee, and rice were wrapped up in common wrapping paper.

At first only merchants had a box in the post office.

John Schamber worked in Sioux City for 13 months to learn the English language, later held the office of County Treasurer, Representative and Senator and State Treasurer.

In the early days the young man who started farming had to have a plow, an Ox-team, a harrow with wooden teeth. The Ox-team furnished the power and for more power the tail was twisted or a heavier whip was used.

A. Gering and his brother Peter started the first creamery in Freeman.

Phillip Gross' daughter Mary, was the first child born in Freeman.

Who would have dreamed 50 or 60 years ago that the time will come that we will have machines that will make it possible to cut, thresh, haul and sell your grain in one day and in the evening come home with the money. In the early days the grain was cut, shocked, stacked and threshed in the fall.

Indians

We might also touch a little on the Indians. The pioneers up to the 1890's liked to talk about Indians, how dangerous they sometimes are, etc. Especially the farmers along the Jim River when the Indians came through in spring and in fall. In those days no game license was required and not a word was heard about open or closed season. We can still remember Sitting Bull and Little Crow were feared and discussed mostly by the pioneers. Sitting Bull was killed in 1890 by two Indian police and Crow was killed by a farmer in Minnesota when he was picking berries in the farmer's field to satisfy his hunger. The Indian always wanted something for nothing. He liked whiskey and was always willing to give his whole string of traps or anything else he had for a drink. Nobody would dare to give him a drink of whiskey because they knew an Indian is greatly infuriated after a drink. People got terribly scared looked in the windows evenings. They asked for something to eat at a certain place they saw a can of wagon grease and the farmer gave it to them. The farmer to his surprise saw the Indian frying ducks in the wagon grease. We saw them with our own eyes cut a piece of meat from a beef in summer and the animal had been dead for several days. They fried the beef and ate it. No Pure Food Law bothered them, yet they were in good health and strong. The Squaw believed her inheritance from the Great Spirit is to do the labor and the man should do the hunting and they never disagreed on this question, the result was harmony in the home. When we visited the Alberta Colonies in 1921 we drove by team from the Raley Colony to the Standoff Colony and the whole stretch was an Indian reservation. We passed an Indian graveyard and when we saw saddles, guns, pipes, and whatnot on graves, we asked the driver to stop, but his reply was he would not dare to stop. Those articles are for the Happy Hunting Grounds or as an offering to the Great Spirit and get the best protection. They have three burial methods we were told, in the ground, in the trees, and on scaffolds. Different tribes no doubt have different customs.

When the people arrived from Russia they saw many new things they did not see in Russia. One day a group of new comers walked on the street in Yankton and saw a threshing machine. These new comers were very inquisitive and one asked what that machine is for. Knowing that surveying land is the order of the day, they said that is a land surveying machine and nobody disputed the explanation.

In the early days there were no snow plows and children on the farm had a hard time getting thru the deep snow. Children were dressed in heavy clothes in those days, on their heads, knitted hoods, scarfs around the neck, heavy shoes and overshoes etc.

The winter of 1880-81 is known as the winter of snow banks and blockades. The first snow storm was on Oct. 14, 1880 and the last one on Feb. 28, 1881. There were snow banks 20 to 30 feet high. Had no trains for many weeks. This caused a big James River Flood in spring.

Wheat bought from Sept. 1, 1898 to 1899: De-wald and Walter, 157,243; Schamber Bros., 95,336; M. Wollman, 120,280; Buechler Roller Mill, 50,000; John Borman, 80,000. Other grain handled: Rye, 20,000; Corn 40,000; Oats, 10,000; barley, 5,000 bu.

A. D. Schmidt sold his store to Kaufman and Waltner in 1898.

Weigum moved down from Marion, bought the C. Mutschelknaus blacksmith.

Different Dates

1899 C. C. Vogt opened a barber shop and restaurant.

It was a shock to all when the Catholic Church blew up in Marion on Palm Sunday 1949. Several were killed instantly, also the mother of Dr. A. P. Reding.

Dr. A. A. Wipf moved the Post Office to the Drug Store in 1898.

A. Gering started a Cream Station 8 miles north in 1890.

J. H. Queal started a lumber yard in 1838.

The Bethany Mennonite Church was completely destroyed by fire Nov. 4, 1945.

Wilbur Fensel arrived from the east to work in the Gross Hatchery in the spring of 1931.

The Pioneers never looked for a $3 hat when they had only $1.00 in the pocket.

The breaking plow was the first implement the new settlers needed. Seeding was done by hand, a harvester for cutting the grain and the binding was done by hand and in some cases on the ground. The first binder used wire instead of twine, but later used twine.

The Pioneers dug a ditch around the garden for a fence to keep the cattle out. Holes were made in the gate, wooden nails were used, and all this was done without a County Agent.

In 1921 the following went to Germany with cows donated for the poor in Germany. R. Dewald. Joe A. Wollman, August Schmeichel, John T. Kaufman, Albert Haar, Wm. Dewald Jr., Joe S. Wipf and Hans Gottsche.

In the early 90's Freeman had a big building boom. In 1892 the Mrs. Fred Knodel house was built by John Dubs, Henry Pfeiffer built the Aaron Koerner house (now in 1957 the Koerner house was wrecked), Fred Haar built the Thompson Yard house, P. H. Goertz moved the C. Baer house down from Marion (now in 1957 we have a beautiful hotel on the place the house had been wrecked). Pete Schamber built the Julius E. Graber house, Jacob Wipf built the H. C. Gering house, C. H. Vogler built the Dan Merk house, Peter Schempp built the A. Gering house.

In the early days $10 and $15 a month was big money. We often heard Math Hafner tell us he received $17 a month during harvest month, and he was proud of it because it was more than other harvest workers received.

In 1899 a horseless carriage was brought to Yankton State Fair. There were 20 of these cars in the United States at that time. This car was brought here from Chicago to be exhibited. The average speed of those cars in the 90's was 8 miles an hour.

In 1770 a place to find gold was a big attraction and gold seekers looked for Dakota gold and rushed to these places like thirsty cattle into a pond on a hot day.

Remarks about Churches

A few remarks about the town will tell you that the first church in South Dakota was built at Pembina. The first church built in Freeman was the St. Paul's Lutheran Church erected in 1882. The second church erected in Freeman was the Bethlehem Reformed Church erected in 1892. The third church was the Bethany Mennonite Church erected in 1898.

CHANGES SINCE 1875

This settlement is 80 years old and nearly everything has changed except the beautiful sunshine. We have today the same beautiful sunshine the pioneers had 80 years ago and the same climate. These two things man cannot change. They remain the way the Creator made them. The best way to realize the many changes is by enumerating them, and we shall try to mention at least some.

The ironing was done by heating the flat iron on the stove, now the electric power is used.

Buffalo chips were gathered for fuel.

Nobody talked about garages or airports, filling stations, etc.

Eggs were brought in from the farm in a pail filled with oats.

Young men went to a city to learn the English language. Jacob Hieb of Marion, and John Schamber went to Sioux City to learn the English language.

There was no wrist watch or alarm clock. The farmer unloaded his corn with a small shovel, had no elevator.

There were no farm organizations. Today a farmer spends much time at his writing desk to fill out all kinds of papers.

Lime stones were gathered on the farm river hills and converted into lime after being placed on the fire in an oven for some 10 days and nights, and used for building.

Women and girls were doing considerable field work. The spinning wheel was also kept busy, so the girls have warm stockings when winter comes.

Twisted hay was used for the stove.

Compare the plowing with an oxteam and a walking plow in the early days to the plowing with a tractor. The man sitting under an umbrella steering the tractor and sometimes even listening to his radio while plowing.

Vacations and 8 hour days were unknown in the early days, and how could they go out and travel by oxteam? Today it's an annual affair with most of the people.

In the early days when milking was done, the milk had to be placed where it was cool, then skimmed, churned and taken to market. Today we have the milking machine, the electric button is pressed to start the separator, and the creamery man calls daily to take the cream.

In the early days farmers raised broom corn and made their own brooms. Many of the early settlers had no wooden floor for years. The mud floor was strewn with sand to keep it smooth and easier for sweeping. Today their children use the electric carpet sweeper.

They used twisted hay and straw when they had no wood to fill up the stove. Today they turn on the electric switch or the bottle gas stove.

Yeast was made at home. Today if the store has no yeast the only substitute is bread from the bakery.

The girls never dreamed of an artificial complexion in pioneer days and there were just as many pretty girls then as now, and maybe more. Girls used to have braids. Now they have bobbed hair and permanents.

Farmers started to work at 5 in the morning and worked till dark. Lunch was brought out between meals. Now they don't quit even at dark some days but run the tractor all night to make up time to go on vacation.

12 teams and a large force of men were needed to operate a threshing machine. Now the combine cuts, shocks, threshes and one man operates the machine.

Tallow dipped candles were used for light. Now you press the button and you have light.

Water was pulled from the well in buckets. Now you turn on the faucet and you have the water.

Men in business had to add long columns of figures. Now the adding machines do it.

Compare the washday with the washboard to the present—electric washer is turned on.

The simple life was preached by Teddy Roosevelt and to find pleasure in work, but it was actually practiced by the pioneers long before him.

When the supply of molasses was low mother took a jug to the store and it was filled up from a big barrel. Some had their homemade molasses. Sugar cane was planted and hauled to the syrup press where the syrup was prepared. One press was located in Wittenberg and one at the Wolf Creek Colony. These two served the vicinity.

Meat was salted and smoked to prepare it for keeping. Now they take it to the locker and put it in the deep freeze.

Sidewalks were made from planks and the cracks were big enough for a high heeled shoe to get stuck in the crack, but at that time shoes had big heels and nobody was bothered. If by accident a man dropped a piece of silver money and it rolled into the crack the plank was raised and the money was not lost. Weeds grew up through the cracks on Main Street. How much different now.

Stores trusted everybody, never took an inventory, placed orders almost a year ahead and made money. With the changing styles today you cannot do it that way. Now orders are phoned in in the morning to be sure to get the article in the afternoon.

Swan Lake was a very important place for people here. They had a branch land office. Rev. Paul F. Gross served on the star route between Freeman and Swan Lake.

Women folks had to sew, knit and run the spinning wheel besides cooking. Today with a sewing machine and all conveniences now they get more time to attend society clubs.

The first few years no interest was taken in politics. Now you can meet a little pin-headed politician almost on every street corner before election.

Money was very scarce in the early days and the rate of interest high. The highest interest on record that was charged was 60 percent.

As an optimist and a hustler, never forget the early merchant. He had long hours from early till late in the night every day.

With poor transportation some articles got very scarce at times. In 1876 kerosene sold in Deadwood at $10.00 a gallon. They had a pony express from St. Joseph, Mo. to San Francisco.

In the early days farmers raised many wagon loads of watermelons. Every spring much sod was turned and the seed was planted in the sod, and no more cultivation was needed. Today it's not so easy to raise watermelons. Even county agents cannot stop weeds from growing.

The menu was simple in the early days. Sauerkraut, borst, homemade bacon, homemade cookies, etc., and nobody was operated on, or had high blood pressure so people must have lived right. They ate to live and now they live to eat. A prominent hospital physician told us not long ago that he is wondering that there is not more sickness as little attention as people pay to their diet. Anything that tickles the palate is swallowed regardless of consequences.

In the early days every man in town had a cow for the milk supply, and the boy had to feed and water the cow after school and mornings, and also keep the barn clean. It was also his job to see that the wood box is filled. Once in a while you heard Mama say, "This is the last time I tell you Sonny, to have that wood box filled." This training of the boy to work was worth much more than the milk. And he knew where the milk comes from. Not long ago a disease among cows was reported in a large city and people began to worry. A city boy said, "We don't need to worry, we get our milk from the bottle." But our boys know the milk in the bottle comes from the cow. In the early days in many cases the boy went on the farm when school closed and learned to work on the farm during the summer. No doubt he got just as much good out of that training as any boy scout today.

The stockyards were always a busy place. Kids are always anxious to see something and all of us will remember how a gang of kids were sitting on the high wooden fence and watch the buyers and farmers loading stock into cars for shipment to the market. Today the stockyard is a lonely place, no kids around. Trucking livestock direct from the farm has done away with the busy stockyards and so many changes have taken place.

Very few people, whether young or old, have not seen the Black Hills these days. In the early days the general impression was that only bad men go out to the Black Hills. We are quite certain that Jacob Tschetter, of Bridgewater, was the first man from around here to see the Black Hills. He did not go out there on a vacation. In the 1894 fall campaign when Cleveland was elected president he appointed Peemiller of Yankton for U. S. Marshal and Peemiller could appoint for Deputy Marshal for this state. Jacob Tschetter was one of the four. He made frequent trips to the Hills and we often heard him describe moral conditions out there. Who has not heard of Calamity Jane, Poker Alice, Deadwood Dick, Wild Bill and many others. Wild women from the east and the south made the hills their home and gave vent to the wildest excesses. A horse thief was in danger of a rope and tree out there.

All know about the depression years we had during the 1930's and also the prosperous times we had before that, up to 1930, but for the sake of the younger generations we will touch on it a little. During the prosperous years before 1930 there was plenty of money everywhere. Wheat sold as high as $3.00 a bushel. Hogs, 20c a lb. Other farm products were in proportion, and everyone enjoyed a good time and prepared for a still better time. How true the saying that it takes a wise man to stand prosperity. Any man can stand adversity because he has to. Land raised in price and many investments were made on the installment plan, but when obligations could not be met it meant foreclosures. During the prosperous years the trouble was overproduction and the New Deal tried to cure this trouble by killing pigs and cattle and plowing under cotton, grain or paying for acres not seeded, etc. The drought started after 1932 and lasted for several years. The farmer made feed loans and seed loans to save their livestock. Seed wheat was bought in 1932 at over a dollar a bushel, and a fair crop was raised but the crop had to be sold for 25c a bushel. Cows sold from $12 to $15 apiece. Land dropped from $150 an acre to $12 and $15 an acre because taxes and interest could not be paid. Relief had to come from somewhere. Some received relief from the government directly and some worked on relief by working on the highway or making dams, etc. To get something for nothing is quite a temptation for some and in some cases relief was dished out directly to some that never needed it. Times are again prosperous which is very dangerous for the extremely optimistic class. Those who prepare for hard times will be the last ones to have financial trouble. Of course we do not mean that you should be an extreme pessimist.

REPLACING BOARD SIDEWALKS WITH CEMENT WALKS

Pictorial

EARLY DAYS IN FREEMAN

This picture is no different from a typical small western town, but to us it is Freeman before the days of oiled streets, concrete sidewalks, and electric lights. Note the grass growing in Main Street. Then the people did not talk about dust storms and depressions.

The first building on the East side was the George Gross store. Later, John J. Kleinsasser had a general store and furniture store on that corner. Now Alvin Huber runs a filling station. The next building North is the site where Guenthner & Haar first ventured into business in 1882. Later, Fred Haar bought out Guenthner and continued in business. In 1913 Mr. Haar moved to his present location where they have continuously been engaged in the farm implement business to this day. The former corner was then sold to Wipf Bros. who still occupy it as a hardware store.

On the West side of Main Street, the building furthest North is the depot which is still there. The next building South was the residence of John Dubs who at one time was a business man of Freeman, but has spent most of his life on the farm southwest of Freeman. The building with the porch on the second story is where the Schamber Bros. General Mercantile Business received its start in 1882. The first floor was used for the store, the second floor constituted the living quarters for the George Schamber family. That building was later moved to the site now occupied by Wm. Morfeld as a butchershop. In 1900 Schamber Bros. built the present fine brick building. The next building was erected by John Gross and used as a hotel and saloon. This building, later torn down, was one of the oldest landmarks in Freeman. The next building was the Mike Wollmann store.

This is a picture of Main Street of the City of Freeman as it was about fifty years ago. The center of attraction in this picture is the bicycle, the first one to make its appearance in Freeman. The owner is John Gering who later went back to Russia. The youngsters in the picture insisted on being photographed with the bicycle. Among them were the Nuss boys, the Gering boys, the Buechlers, the Guenthnerns and Haars. We understand that this bicycle was later raffled off and Christ Baer won it. A bicycle was a distinct luxury fifty years ago.

MAIN STREET OF FREEMAN OF 1957

The above cut shows Freeman's Main Street, after the cement pavement and vapor street lights were put in in the year 1953. This was a big improvement, and the businessmen of Freeman feel justly proud about their Main Street. All the streets of Freeman are now oil and dust proofed. In 1958, Freeman changed its water system from the out-dated and out-moded underground pressure system to the modern elevated tower, and erected a 75,000 gallon water tank. This will assure sufficient water and pressure at all times and to all parts of the city. With so many new modern homes and fine lawns this improvement became a necessity. We now have two wells and two filtering plants.

GROSS HATCHERY AT THE PRESENT TIME

Jake T. Gross, Owner

Old photographs are always interesting, and photographs of early pioneers will certainly be no less interesting to the people of Freeman. The accompanying picture shows an early dray line, not the earliest one for that one was propelled by oxen, not horses. The building is the barn back of Schamber's Store, which until very recently was still there. The owner of the dray line was William Huber who later moved to Clayton Township and farmed there until the time of his death. In the driver's seat is Theobald Stroh. Standing on the wagon from right to left, are Ferd Janke and Jake Blum. Standing alongside the wagon are William Huber, the owner, "Apple Jake" with the saw, and George Schamber. We are not able to say who the man is holding the white horse. The man standing in front of the horses is John Bohrer.

SOLDIERS

JACOB HOFER

Jacob Hofer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Hofer, was killed in action October 16, 1918, according to word received in Bridgewater. His parents reside near Clayton.

When America entered the war Hofer was one of the first ten thousand that volunteered from the state of South Dakota. He often expressed himself as being anxious to go across the sea and do his share to win the war for America.

Hofer fought through most of the summer campaign with a machine gun battalion and it is believed that he fell in the battle of the Argonne forest although no definite particulars of his death have been received.

This McCook county man enlisted August 23, 1917. He was 31 years old.

JACOB STUKEY

Jacob Stukey passed away in an army hospital at Fort Riley, Kansas, October 10, 1918, following a protracted illness caused by the after-effects of influenza. His remains were taken to Freeman, the home of the Stukey family, and were interred in the Salem-Zion cemetery near Marion, S. D.

The deceased was born near Marion, S. D., July 31, 1896. When he was 13 years old his father died. He worked for several people of the country to help support the family, and moved to Freeman some years ago and accepted work in a lumber yard there.

JACOB WEBER

Jacob Weber was killed on the last day of the war, reports say. Mr. Weber, of Freeman, Hutchinson county, who was one of the first men to leave his home and enter the service, was killed in action in the Argonne Forest October 18, 1918, according to word received by his relatives. No definite particulars of his death were procurable.

WALTER SAHMEL

Walter Sahmel was born in Germany March 10, 1920. He came to America with his parents in 1924. At the age of 16 he joined the U. M. church. His life was a short span of 23 years and 2½ months. He was inducted in the Army June 24, 1942, and was killed in action in the Aleutians on May 29, 1943. His last remains were sent to Freeman in 1948 for final burial.

ROBERT W. HOFER

Robert Hofer, son of Dr. and Mrs. M. M. Hofer died in action in 1943. Age 25 years.

STAFF SGT. JOHN K. GROSS

John K. Gross died in an airplane crash in the Mediterranean Sea Aug. 17, 1945. Age 25 years. Son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Mendel. He was on his way home when their ship struck a mine and the many soldiers on that ship all drowned.

ROLAND D. BECKER

Born June 19, 1921 and died in France Sept. 17, 1944, age 23 years. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Becker.

Freeman and Community Churches

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CONGREGATION AND SCHOOL, Freeman, South Dakota

St. Paul's Lutheran Congregation was organized in 1882 with nine members, being served by Rev. E. F. Melcher. In 1886 he accepted a call from Centerville to the parish which comprised the following congregations and preaching places: Heilbronn, Freeman, Menno, Quast, Friedenthal and Wolf Creek. During the first four years our congregation met for Divine Services at the homes of various members and later in the public school building. The congregation decided to erect a church building 24x32 feet. This church was dedicated to the service of the Triune God in 1886.

The congregation also realized the necessity and value of having a Christian Day School, where the children would be instructed daily in the Word of God and therefore, heeded the Savior's command: "Feed my lambs," and erected a school house in 1888. Here their children would learn to know and believe in Jesus their only Savior. The first school house is the present home of Herbert Fast. The first floor served as schoolroom while the second floor was used as teacherage. Later the school was moved into the church, thus this building served the double purpose of church and school. After seventeen years of this combination of church and school it was necessary to erect a larger church. Therefore, the present church was built and dedicated in 1899. Quite recently the church was renovated and redecorated. The old church was then used for a schoolhouse and in the course of the years an addition of 24x24 was built to provide a second classroom. Since this enlarged school soon proved to be inadequate the congregation resolved to build the present school which was dedicated in the beginning of 1925 in the name of the Triune God. At times the enrollment required a staff of three teachers to care for the instruction of the pupils.

The first parsonage, the former parsonage of Heilbronn, was moved to Freeman and was occupied by the pastors E. F. Melcher and A. Brauer. In the year 1894 the next parsonage was erected on the southeast corner of the church property and served until 1945 as our parsonage. In that year the present parsonage was erected. During the time of razing the old parsonage and erecting the new one Rev. P. Brill and family lived in the school building.

In 1948 a teacherage was built on the southwest corner of the present schoolgrounds.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH

During the past 75 years the congregation was served by the following pastors: E. F. Melcher, 1882-1889; A. Brauer, 1889-1903; H. Boumann, 1904-1911; G. Doege, 1911-1914; K. Schroeder, 1915-1921; G. H. Steffen, 1922-1928; G. Schaefer, 1928-1934; C. D. Eifert, 1934-1944; Paul Brill, 1944-1953; A. Szegedin, 1953-1956. The present pastor, Rev. Norman F. Seebach, was installed in our church on April 7, 1957.

From the small beginning of 19 souls and 9 voting members in 1882 the congregation now numbers 426 souls, 322 communicant members and 81 voting members. During the past 75 years 895 children and 6 adults were baptized; 683 children and 63 adults were confirmed; 190 couples were married and 245 members were buried.

The 75th anniversary was held June 2, 1957. Speakers were Rev. Paul Brill of Long Prairie, Minn. and Rev. Norman Spomer of Edgeley, N. D. Organists were Emil Kriewaldt, Corrine Schmuck and Orville Walz.

THE PRESENT ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN SCHOOL

The following served as teachers in our parochial school: A. Wilske, T. H. Grossman, M. Leyhe, C. Bahle, H. Nielsen, E. Berning, F. Wagner, E. Kohtz, P. Schmandt, Mrs. Hugo Haar, Herbert Einspahr, Elizabeth Hoffman, E. Kriehwaldt, G. L. Wyneken, Martha Dewald, Melitta Schamber, E. Schaefer, P. Hintz, Clara Gericke, Lillian Ellwein, M. Arkebauer, H. Harms, Theo. Schreiner, Paula (Buls) Harr, Elton Dubs, Alice Haar, LeRoy Moderow, H. Franzen, Woodrow Ellwein, Darlene (Mundt) Schamber, June (Mundt) Schamber, Arlene Wiersig, Irene (Spomer) Kleinsasser, Fay Richert, Dorothy Quest, Arlene Bader, Eunice Szegedin.

THE BETHLEHEM REFORMED CHURCH
Freeman, S. D.

The Bethlehem Reformed Church, of Freeman, whose original members consisted of Russian Immigrants of German descent, who came to America in the years 1871 and 1873 to Sandusky, Ohio and wintered there until spring of 1874 when they came to Yankton, Dakota Territory wher homesteads were to be had in the Dakotas.

The Bethlehem Reformed Church was organized in January 1892 under the guidance of Rev. H. Teichrieb. The original group who organized the church consisted of eleven families whose names were Christian and Joseph Buechler, Gottlieb Dobler, Johann Dorr, Johann Feick, Johann Gross, Mathaus Huber, Jacob Reinschmidt, Peter Schempp, Johann Schaeffer and Gottlieb Teske. Of this group only John Gross is still alive at this time and on June 1st, celebrated his 97th birthday.

A church was built in the same year 1892 at a cost of $1400.00 which still serves the congregation.

The Rev. H. Teichrieb served this church for a period of two years when he resigned. The church was then served from 1895 until July 1924 by the Rev. Rittershaus.

In April 1925 the Rev. John Bodenman took up his duties and served the church until June 1939. In 1937 improvements were made in the church building and a pulpit installed.

On June 5th 1939 the Bethlehem Reformed Church severed its relationship with the Salem Reformed Church at Menno, and joined up with the Kassel Reformed Church north of Menno.

The church was then served by the Rev. William E. Korn from 1939 to 1948, when relationship was severed with the Kassel Reformed Church and the Bethlehem Reformed Church then joined up with the Bethel Reformed Church at Marion.

The Rev. H. A. Hartman then served the church from 1948 until 1954.

From 1955 to date the Rev. Henry A. Bartel is now serving the church.

The original benches which were brought up from Yankton by hayrack, have been discarded and replaced with new modern benches. The original reed organ has been replaced with a grand piano.

BETHANY MENNONITE CHURCH
Freeman, S. D.

REV. WILLIAM UNRAU
Present minister of Bethany Mennonite Church in Freeman, came January 1, 1958.

The Bethany Mennonite Church was started by East Freeman, West Freeman and Silver Lake people. At first they had no minister and a minister from one of these three groups was expected to bring the Sunday message in the church and also had Sunday School in the school house located on the present City Park grounds. Seeing the need of a permanent meeting house the following met to discuss the question of a church building: George Gross, A. Gering, Paul R. M. Hofer, A. D. Schmidt, John Borman, John W. Tschetter, Sam Walter, Jake M. Wollman, Joe C. Graber, Joe A. Miller, Joe L. Wipf, and Jake J. Graber. They elected a committee of 5 trustees, namely: A. Gering, Chr.; Jacob M. Wollman, Sec.; Sam Walter, Treas.; and George Gross and John Borman.

The present site was bought from A. Gering at $15.00 and a building was erected in 1898. The three carpenters were: Joseph C. Gross, Peter C. and Zacharias Kleinsasser donated labor. The amount of $2,000 had been accumulated and it was decided to build. The size was 28 feet wide, 48 feet long. John Schroeder of Dolton was the contractor to take charge of construction with the brethren donating their labor. The building was completed the same summer and dedicated with Rev. Christian Kaufman and Rev. Christian Mueller in charge. These two ministers with Joseph Kaufman and John L. Wipf occupied its pulpit until joined in 1902 by Rev. H. A. Bachman, who came to Freeman to assume his duties at the new college.

In 1920 a parsonage was purchased at a cost of $6,500.

By 1924, because of increased attendance in both church and Sunday School, it became obvious that the congregation had outgrown its original building. Work was started to enlarge. Work was completed in 1925 at a cost of $4,000.

On Sunday morning, November 4, 1945 the church was destroyed by fire, a total loss with only 4 benches and several books saved.

In 1946 the planning committee made plans for a new church structure. Construction began in spring of 1948, was dedicated Sunday, May 11, 1952. The church and contents as it stands, cost $69,000. It measures 102 feet 5 inches in length; is 38 feet wide at the nave, 55 feet wide at the rear, and features a bell tower rising 40 feet.

The construction of a new parsonage was begun in 1952. The membership of Bethany is now 326.

SALEM LUTHERAN CHURCH

On February 14, 1877, a group of Norwegian settlers met at the home of one, Gunerius Larson, Yankton, County, Dakota Territory, and organized what was known as the Opdahl Congregation. In 1880, a group of families from the Molan community joined the Opdahl group. They were: George Mosby, Sam Hanson, Hans Hanson, Christ Hanson, Peder Jorstad, Christ Carter, Jens Erickson, John Bragstad and Lars Vogland.

All types of services were at first held in the pioneer homes. When school houses were built they became the official meeting places. Opdahl's services, thus, were held in three different school houses. The Molan group met at the Downer school.

In 1888, the group in Yankton County erected a church and adopted the name of Trygstad Congregation, while we retained the name of Opdahl until 1898, when we built a church and changed the name from Opdahl to Salem.

Pastors who served the congregation since its founding in 1877 were: Rev. Iver Andreason (a circuit rider), Rev. Carl J. Olson, Rev. L. A. Breen, Rev. L. L. Mastad, Rev. O. H. Brodland (a son of our congregation), Rev. J. M. Runestad, Rev. A. T. Daniels, Rev. O. W. Sougstad, and the present pastor, Rev. Virgil Johnson. Rev. Stanley Olson and Rev. Richard Solberg, Augustana College, served as supply pastors.

PASTOR ALVIN PERRY BRUCKLACHER

graduated from Luther Theological Seminary, St. Paul, Minnesota in 1957 and was ordained on June 16, 1957. He is serving the Ross Parish, Ross, North Dakota, as a Minister of the Evangelical Lutheran Church.

JOHANNESTHAL REFORMED CHURCH

Among the first German immigrants who came from southern Russia and settled west of Freeman, were the following families: Philipp Holzwarth, Andreas Bertsch, Christian Delzer, Christian Auch, Johann Schempp, Fritz Mutschelknaus, Gottlieb Delzer, Jacob Schatz and Johannes Schatz. The Philipp Holzwarth family came from Rohrbach, and all the other families came from Johannesthal in southern Russia. From 1873 to 1877 the worship services of the Johannesthal congregation were conducted in the house of Christian Delzer. The first elders who were in charge of the reading services were Christian Auch and Johannes Schatz.

In 1877 was the first church building erected, and in 1902 the present church edifice was built and several times remodeled.

The first infant that was baptized in the old church was Michael Schoppert. The Rev. Drescher was in charge of the ceremony.

The Johannesthal congregation had been organized as an independent Lutheran church, but under the pastoral care of Reverends J. Orth, J. Bonekemper, and H. Teichrieb the members of the Johannesthal congregation accepted the Reformed faith as it is expressed in the Heidelberg Catechism of 1563. The Rev. Johann Bonekemper was no stranger to those who had come from Johannesthal in southern Russia. His father, the Rev. Carl Bonekemper, was a minister in Rohrbach, South Russia. And the latter had been in charge of a triple wedding which took place on December 17, 1868 at the Rohrbach church. All three bridal couples had journeyed from Johannesthal to Rohrbach. Those three bridal couples were the following: Andreas Bertsch and Sophie Delzer, Michel Schatz and Amrei Steiger, Johannes Bertsch and Friederike Ulmer. The first bridal couple who was married in the new Johannesthal church west of Freeman were Heinrich Sayler and Elizabeth Schempp. The Rev. A. Kirchhoefer was in charge of this wedding.

The first ministers who took on pastoral duties were the Reverend Drescher (Lutheran), the Rev. Beckmann (Lutheran), and the Rev. Jose (Congregational). The influence of the Reverends Ort, Bonekemper, and Teichrieb resulted in the organization of a united charge (Parish) and in the adoption of a united constitution for both congregations.

The Johannesthal congregation consists of 25 families. Thus the Kassel Reformed Parish has 75 families.

ZION-KASSEL REFORMED CHURCH

The founding of the Zion Reformed and the Johannesthal Reformed congregations, constituting the Kassel Reformed Parish, dates back to the early 70's of the 19th century when the migration of early German pioneers from South Russia brought the German pioneers to the plains of Dakota Territory. Being ambitious people, they were soon well rooted in their new homeland.

Not to be overlooked was their great concern for their religious faith. Among the immigrants were many holding to the Reformed faith. Their first years in their new homeland found them gathering for religious worship in their homes on Sunday mornings. In 1874 the following families organized the Zion Kassel congregation: Adam Hieb, Wilhelm Hieb, Johann Hieb, Johann Mettler, Jacob Mettler, Andreas Mettler, Friedrich Mettler, Friedrich Bender, Valentine Preszler, Johann Preszler, Ludwig Mehlhaf, Martin Preszler, Heinrich Jacob Mehlhaf, Johann Hoff, Heinrich Preszler, Friedrich alt Mettler, Johann Schnaidt, Jacob Schnaidt, Philipp Schnabel, Conrad Schnabel, Ludwig Schnabel, Daniel Schnabel, George Schnabel, Johann Mettler, Jacob Hieb, Friedrich Mettler, Heinrich Jacob Mettler, Peter Wahl, George Neuharth, Phillip Neuharth, Jacob Neuharth, Friedrich Neuharth, Johann Brandt, Andreas Brandt, Carl Wacker, Christoph Maier, Friedrich Streyle, Daniel Mettler, Johann Friedrich Reich, and Daniel Mettler (Huether).

Most of their worship services were conducted in the "country barn church" on the farm of Heinrich Jacob Mettler, 3½ miles north of Menno. During the spring of 1879 the present church building of the Zion Kassel Church was erected. Several weeks later the church building was dedicated with Prof. H. A. Muehlmeier of the Mission House Seminary, Plymouth, Wisc., in charge of it. The first couple that got married in this church was Jacob Mettler and Catharina Goehring (1879) and in 1880 the new church saw a double wedding. The bridal couples were: Daniel Mettler and Margaretha Huether, and Johann Mettler and Catharina Holzwarth. The latter is still living, 96 years of age, and resides at Menno. (1957) The Rev. J. Orth performed all those wedding rites.

The Zion-Kassel Church building was remodeled in 1944. The congregation consists of 50 families.

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH

HISTORY OF TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH Heilbronn, South Dakota

(Valley Township, 6 Miles Southwest of Freeman)

Among the many immigrants coming to the United States from Europe there were also families from the Crimean Peninsula on the Black Sea in Southern Russia, of German nationality, who came to the Dakota Territory which was opened for immigrants. The immigrants coming to the Heilbronn community in 1874 were: Johann George Huber, Jacob Guenther, and Christoph Guenther with their families. They stopped first at Yankton to inquire about the country, then travelled some 30 miles north of Yankton and claimed homesteads in this territory, which they called Heilbronn after their home village in Russia. The following year, 1875, other families from the Heilbronn village followed them, namely: Christian Ellwein, Henry Ellwein, Henry Hafner, Matthias Hafner, John Walz, Sr., John Walz, Jr., John Kind, George Bauer, Adam Guenther, Mathias Guenther with his mother, and Adam Hein. Other immigrants from neighboring villages were Henry Nuss, Henry Pfeiffer, Henry Dewald, John Dubs from Zuerchtal; Jacob Haar, Sr., Friedrich Haar, Andreas Mettler, Friedrich Mettler, Philip Huber, and Martin Tabert. Some of them settled in the Wolf Creek region. In the year 1876 families coming from Heilbronn, Crimea, and locating in the Heilbronn community were Johannes Ellwein, Johannes Hoellwarth, Jacob Walz, Sr., Andreas Walz, Johannes Mettler. Coming from the village Zuerchtal were Wilhelm Dewald, Christ Bauer, Andreas Baer, and H. Yangula.

The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod in the latter part of the 19th century was mainly occupied with bringing the spiritual food to the Lutheran immigrants of German nationality. The Synod had placed circuit-riders, "Reisenprediger," at strategic points of the vast territory who would call on the new settlers to find out about their spiritual condition, to serve them with the Word and Sacraments, and to organize congregations. The traveling missionary in this neighborhood was the Rev. John F. Doescher, stationed at Yankton, S. Dak. He came in contact with these settlers, and preached his first sermon in the house of Christian Delzer.

In 1875 Pastor Doescher preached for the first time in the Heilbronn community in the house of Johann George Huber. These people, whenever the pastor could not be with them, had "Lesegottesdienste," a layman reading a sermon from a sermon book. In one of his letters to the Mission Board, pastor Doescher wrote that he was conducting services in 26 preaching stations scattered in 8 counties. He was a circuit-rider indeed. Under the leadership of pastor Doescher in the year 1876 the Ev. Lutheran Trinity Church at Heilbronn was organized. 21 members signed the constitution. In 1877 pastor Doescher was called into the Negro mission in the southern states.

PARSONAGE OF TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH AT HEILBRONN

In 1877 the Rev. C. F. Friedrich accepted a call to the Heilbronn congregation. The newly organized congregation had worship in the private houses of the members. They decided to erect a brick church building. The brick had to be hauled from Yankton, with wagons drawn by horses or oxen. This brick church was erected about one mile south of the present church. The congregation also erected a parsonage, a three-room building. This was the first Lutheran church in the county, also the first Lutheran church of the Missouri Synod in the state of South Dakota.

The third minister was the Rev. F. E. Melcher. He remained 10 years (1879-1889). Besides the Heilbronn congregation pastor Melcher conducted services at Menno, Ulmer, Quast, Freeman and Wolf Creek. In those days of horse-and-buggy he was away from home for many days, teaching and preaching in different stations of the parish. On Sundays when he was away from the Heilbronn congregation, laymen would conduct reading services. Some of the members who conducted such services were John Dubs, Henry Dewald, Andrew Walz and others. At the end of pastor Melcher's ministry in Heilbronn the record of the congregation shows 147 baptisms, 149 confirmed, 23 marriages, 31 burials.

The next pastor was pastor Albert Brauer from 1889 to 1903. It was during his ministry that three important events in the history of the congregation took place: the burning down of the first church building, second the erection of the second church, and third the establishment of the Parochial School. The second church was erected at the present location. This building was in the service of the congregation for 34 years. When the church became too small the members sold it to Mr. Fred Huber, where it still serves various purposes.

The successor of pastor Brauer was Henry Bouman of Minnesota. Since the organization of St. Paul's congregation in Freeman (1882) the Heilbronn and Freeman congregation were united into one parish, served by the same pastor. When in 1911 pastor Bouman accepted a call to Minnesota, Pastor G. Doege became the pastor of the parish. He remained till 1914.

In 1914 the Heilbronn congregation called pastor Wm. Hodde, independent of the Freeman congregation. Pastor Hodde also taught the Parochial School of the congregation. He served the congregation faithfully for seven years.

As the standard of the public schools was raised and the parochial schools were obliged to stay on the same level as the public schools, it became more difficult for a pastor to perform the office of the ministry and teach at the same time. The congregation was not large enough to support a pastor and a teacher. In order to continue her parochial school the congregation found it expedient to be united with the sister congregation in Freeman in supporting one pastor. Thus Heilbronn and Freeman were again united and formed one parish. Thus the Freeman pastor, the Rev. G. Steffen, also became Heilbronn's pastor. At the same time the congregation extended a call to teacher Paul Klawitter of Barney, N. Dak. to teach its parochial school. The congregation had now advanced numerically and financially to such an extent that it was able to erect a new church. On the 9th of June, 1924, the laying of the corner-stone took place, and September 7th of the same year it was dedicated to the glory of God. On September 12, 1926, the congregation celebrated the Golden Anniversary of its existence. The festival speakers were Albert Brauer, a former pastor, and Otto Brauer, a son of Albert Brauer. At the Golden Anniversary the congregation had 41 voting members, 230 souls, and 42 children in school. Rev. G. Steffen performed the office of the ministry in Heilbronn from 1922-1929.

The next pastors of the Heilbronn and Freeman parish were the Rev. G. Schaeffer, 1929-1934, and the Rev. C. D. Eifert, 1934-1943. Both served faithfully.

After pastor C. D. Eifert was called away from the parish, St. Paul's congregation in Freeman requested the Heilbronn congregation to have a peaceful separation of the parish. The reason for separation was that St. Paul's church felt it was large enough to keep one pastor busy. The separation took place, and so the Heilbronn congregation again called its own pastor. Pastor Paul Siegel accepted the call and served from 1944 to 1948. Pastor Hans Wiedemann of Menno served during its vacancy until the Rev. August Pera accepted the call and was installed on January 29, 1950. On August 19, 1951 the congregation was privileged to celebrate its 75th anniversary.

When pastor Pera accepted a call to Kansas, the Rev. John Dewald was called. He accepted the call and was installed as pastor of Trinity Church, Heilbronn, August 1, 1954. He is still serving the congregation. August 19, 1956, the congregation observed pastor Dewald's 45th anniversary in office.

Organizations in the congregation at present are a Ladies' Aid Society and a Men's Club. The present membership is the following: Souls 105; communicant members 78. Although originally a German community, the transition to the English has taken its natural course, so that most of the church services are now conducted in the English language.

The following is a list of the sons of the Heilbronn congregation who chose to serve the Lord as pastors or teachers and who have served or are still serving the church at large:

Pastors:

John Dewald, Freeman, S. Dak.
Eldon Dubs, Bloomfield, Nebraska
Harold Huber, Oakes, N. Dak.
Im. Hodde, Los Angeles, Calif.
Harold Klawitter, Pecos, Texas

Sainted Pastors:

Ed Dewald and Philip Walz

Teachers: Benjamin Pfeiffer, Seward, Nebr.

Reinhold Walz, Winthrop, Minn.
Elgar Walz, Fort Wayne, Ind.

The Parochial School

One of the greatest blessings bestowed upon the Heilbronn congregation was the establishment of a Christian day school where the children were day after day taught the Word of God. Already the early settlers were concerned about the Christian education of their children. Finally, 15 years after the organization of the congregation under the leadership of pastor Albert Brauer, the congregation decided to establish a Christian day school. The first teacher was Jacob Wenzlaff who began his duties in 1893. The congregation built a school building and teacherage combined (the present parsonage). He served as teacher for 18 years. During the ministry of pastor H. Bouman, teacher Wenzlaff had moved to Tripp, S. Dak., and teacher T. Metz succeeded him for a few years. When teacher Metz left Mr. Wenzlaff was called back to Heilbronn and continued teaching till he passed away in 1914. After him pastor Wm. Hodde was called both to preach and teach. In 1912 the congregation erected a new school building on the east side of the church. The old congregation united with St. Paul's church in Freeman, Heilbronn called teacher Paul Klawitter in 1923. He taught till 1943 when the congregation didn't have enough children anymore to continue the school. Thus the Heilbronn congregation, a comparatively small country church, had a Christian day school for 50 years to give a thorough Christian education to her children. The members were mindful of the Lord's instruction: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you."

ST. PETER'S LUTHERAN CHURCH, CLAYTON

REV. N. HILDEBRANDT

St. Peter's Church was founded in 1886. When South Dakota was known as Dakota Territory traveling missionaries of the Lutheran Church had preaching services at intervals at Clayton. In 1881 Pastor Andrew Mueller came here regularly from Centerville. After him came Rev. Laux from Howard. The next man to serve was Pastor Waechter of Hillside under whom St. Peter's was organized as a congregation in June 1886. It was incorporated in 1898.

Nine charter members signed the original constitution. They were Henry Harnish, Henry Kietzmann, Henry Schaub, Ernest Kaepsch, John Drewitz, Louis Ahrendt, John Keiper, Valentine Keiper, and Conrad Guericke.

Later St. Peter's was served by Rev. William Zabel, located south of Alexandria. He was followed by Rev. Nenkes, Rev. William Roehrig, and Rev. Freese. Under Rev. Freese St. Peter's separated from the Alexandria parish in 1906. Pastor Freese served Clayton from 1905-1923. In October 1923 the Rev. H. Luebke came here from Mansfield, S. Dak. He served here for nearly twenty-five years (now lives in retirement at Mansfield). He was followed by Rev. J. Palacheck who served three years. His successor was the Rev. C. Wolf, from 1953 to 1956. The present pastor, N. Hildebrandt, came here in January, 1957.

The congregation, since 1915 a member of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, numbers 270 baptized members. Its men's club is associated with the Lutheran Laymen's League, its ladies guild is a member of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League, and its young people's organization is affiliated with the International Walther League. The eighty-two Sunday school children are taught by twenty teachers who meet with the pastor every two weeks for study and discussion of lessons.

Public worship services are held each Sunday at ten o'clock (9:30 during summer months). The Sunday school and Bible classes meet each Sunday at 11:15. Saturday school is in session on Saturday mornings.

Our continued motto, "A CHANGELESS CHRIST FOR A CHANGING WORLD."

UNITY LUTHERAN CHURCH OF WOLF CREEK

In 1891 the church was built under Rev. Descher who lived in Menno. Before that time services were held in homes.

Their next pastor was Adolph Muenich who also served them from Menno.

Beginning in 1898 they joined and were served by the Bridgewater pastor. It was Wilhelm Steinmeyer who served from 1898-1902 and he also married while he was here.

Pastor Anton Wolf served from 1903-1905 and he was married when he was here.

Pastor Moenich died while serving the congregation in 1906.

In November 1906 Gustav Janzig came to spend a memorable 31 years. He was here until 1937 when he retired. The church enjoyed real blessing and stability under his pastorate. It was under his pastorate in the 20's that the present church was built.

From 1938-1940 Arnold Bunge was the pastor.

In 1940 Desquisne began his pastorate at the Wolf Creek and Bridgewater parish and in that year so each church could have services Unity Lutheran of Wolf and Bridgewater separated.

Pastor Reineke was called in 1941 and served until his death in 1946.

Rev. Bischoff supplied during the vacancy.

Pastor Ide was installed in 1949 and served until he retired in 1951.

In 1952 the congregation was served by Rev. Dumins, a D.P. from Latvia, until late 1954.

In July, 1955 pastor Schedler arrived and is serving the congregation.

During the vacancy between pastors Dumins and Schedler pastors Kordewish and Bischoff served the congregation.

FARMERS DAIRY AND PRODUCE COOPERATIVE

The Farmer's Co-op Creamery Association was incorporated May 7, 1930 with Leon C. Weier of Yankton, S. Dak. as its first president. This organization began its operations in what is now the Northwestern Public Service Company office in Freeman. W. F. Bruun, who became manager of the Farmers Co-op Creamery Association in 1933, has served continuously in that position and together with the Board of Directors has guided its growth to a point where the present organization is now considered to be the largest co-operative of its kind in South Dakota.

On April 1, 1957, the Farmers Co-op Creamery Association of Freeman and the Marion Co-op Creamery consolidated and formed the present Farmers Dairy and Produce Co-Operative with Peter H. Graber of Parker, S. Dak., as its first president.

With 3 employees in 1933 to the present 51 employees is an indication of the growth of this organization. A fleet of 11 trucks covering an area to the northeast to within 4 miles of Sioux Falls, to the northwest north of Alexandria, to the southwest to the Missouri River, to the southeast to within a few miles of Irene. From this large area, enough cream and milk is purchased to produce over 1,800,000 pounds of butter. From this area also are purchased over 2,300,000 dozens of eggs which are graded and processed.

To make this production and processing a reality, the most modern equipment available is utilized in the large modern plant which has been increased in size several times since the original building was erected in 1935.

The Farmers Dairy and Produce Co-operative not only influences the economy of Freeman through its large annual payroll, but also the community as a whole through the annual distribution of dividends in excess of $100,000.00, and its annual sales in excess of $2,000,000.00.

PARK LANE FEEDS, INC.

Park Lane Feeds, Inc., was originally a feed manufacturing company founded by Albert T. Kaufman in 1929, and situated east of Main Street. By 1935 it had outgrown its old location and was moved into a larger elevator at the present site where feed was manufactured for retailers throughout eastern South Dakota until on the morning of August 25, 1955, a fire completely destroyed the plant. Rebuilt, as a corporation, the mill was again opened for business exactly one year later, August 2, 1956.

Freeman Community Hospital

Open House at the Freeman Community Hospital was held on Sunday, August 31, 1952 with a large crowd attending. The Hospital was officially opened for patients on September 4, 1952. Mrs. Gene Graber and baby son of Parker were the first patients in the new building.

At the time of this writing the hospital is exactly five years old and to date we have admitted 1,815 patients, not to mention well over 800 out-patients.

The medical staff consists of the Freeman Clinic—Dr. I. I. Kaufman, Dr. J. P. Villa, Dr. D. L. Epp; Dr. E. J. Hofer; and Dr. A. S. Glanzer of Menno.

The first superintendent was Mrs. Betty Johnson. Her successors have been Mrs. Don Harkcom, Mrs. Palmer Graber, Miss Thelma Wollmann, Mrs. Henry Buller, and Miss Marcene Graber.

The officers of the Hospital Board are Gilbert Gullickson, President; Sam Brockmueller, Secretary; J. C. Graber, Treasurer. The board meets the second Tuesday of each month.

The Women's Auxiliary under the presidency of Mrs. M. G. Wollmann is very active, meeting every month with the exception of the summer months. They carry on projects to raise money and also make many necessary and useful supplies for the hospital.

We are very proud of our modern, up-to-date hospital and of its facilities for surgery, obstetrics, x-rays, and other vital tests and examinations.

Salem Home for the Aged

Establishing the Home for the Aged was a project sponsored by the Mennonite churches in this community. The Home is located on Main Street, one block north of the College. The 18-room home has ten bedrooms, a dining room, a modern kitchen, reception room, two sun porches, bathrooms, and a basement laundry and oil heating equipment. The rooms were furnished and decorated by church societies and individual families.

Formally opened September 1, 1949 it has been filled to capacity. Requests for admission are so great that it is planned to enlarge the Home by adding a wing which would accommodate 14 more. The pressing need for an establishment especially dedicated to the care of our older citizens who have contributed so much to our present well-being has long been apparent. Those connected with the founding and the operation of the Home are to be commended for this excellent work. The home is a real asset to Freeman. Work for the new addition to the Home started in June, 1958.

Freeman Public School

The public school building, shown above, was erected in 1925. At the time of its construction it was adequate to meet the needs of the Freeman community. However, with the continued growth of the city during the next thirty years, crowded conditions developed, and it was found necessary to build an auditorium-gymnasium. The new building was completed in 1957. It was used for the first time on May 20 when the commencement exercises for the Class of '57 were held in it. Currently it is being used in the school lunch program, by the athletic and music departments, and, on occasion, by the churches and other local organizations. The old gymnasium, in the main building, is being converted into additional classrooms.

COLLEGE ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

Freeman Junior College was formally organized and granted a charter of incorporation December 1900. The offer of Mr. John Gross to give the Corporation three acres of land and to sell them*such additional space as was needed at a price of $100 an acre was accepted and 9.63 acres were acquired in an area which was then said to be south of Freeman.

Money was solicited and the "College" Building was erected. Excavation of the basement started on May 11, 1903. The building program went so fast that the first term of school was opened the middle of October and the "College" was dedicated October 25, 1903.

H. A. Bachman was offered the principalship at $600 a year and free housing. In addition he received $13 per month for heating and cleaning the school.

In 1906 a boys' dormitory was built and in 1915 a girls' dormitory. A tile gymnasium constructed in 1923 served in that capacity for 27 years when it was converted into a shop building. It is the present Thieszen Industrial Arts Building and ranks as one of the best equipped in the whole state. Memorial Hall, built in the twenties, was dedicated in 1926 and has served as administration building ever since. In 1948 a Boy's Dormitory was completed at the same time that work on a large new auditorium-gymnasium was in progress. Named Pioneer Hall and dedicated in 1950 it has become a veritable community center. Much used as a gymnasium, its auditorium serves man religious cultural, and civic groups. Its basement dining hall and kitchen, spacious enough to serve 550, is in great demand. In 1952 the Wollman Home was purchased and converted into apartments to supply needed staff housing. Several years ago the Preheim family donated a modern home to be used as the president's residence as a memorial to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Preheim. Recently several major plant improvements have been made.

EMIL J. WALTNER

Happy are the people who can return to hobbies upon their retirement. Happier still are the people who can make their hobbies profitable. Emil J. Waltner fits both categories. Since his retirement from the farm he has been devoting his time to work in plastics. This work he does in his own home in the northeast part of the city. People who are interested in costume jewelry, mantel piece ornaments, and a variety of other items, both utilitarian and decorative, have already found their way to his home. Some of his internal carvings are unexcelled for their beauty in design and color.
